

Name :- Asad Ali
LMSID :- 30306
Batch :- 54

Topic:- World Peace is a Choice of Superpowers

1) Introduction

Thesis Statement:- World Peace pursuit is a responsibility of the Superpowers. Superpowers have potential to work on peace and utilize their influence on other states. Superpowers contain huge influence on the international organizations to maintain peace.

2) How world peace is a choice of superpowers?

3) The current responsibility of superpowers in promoting peace

a) The unique capabilities and resources possessed by superpowers

b) Emphasize the superpowers obligation to use their influence for the betterment of humanity

c) Superpowers can influence on third world countries

d) Superpowers have actively engage in the diplomatic efforts

Date: _____

Day: _____

e) Superpower contribute huge economic resources in the states.

4) World Peace is not solely the responsibility of superpowers

a) The capabilities and resources of Superpowers use for their interest

b) Global peace requires collective actions and shared responsibility.

c) Superpowers influence on third world countries use only for the containment of other super power

d) All nations diplomacy have a part to play in the pursuit of world peace.

e) Superpowers huge ~~contri~~ economic contribution use for achieving their interests.

5) Superpowers are the actors responsible for maintaining peace

a) Superpowers possess vast military, economic and diplomatic resources

b) Superpowers have significant influence on institutions,

c) Superpowers act as a peacekeeper in the third world countries

d) Superpowers must maintain a long-term commitment to peace through diplomacy

Date: _____

Day: _____

e) Superpowers can support the development and implementation through economic investments.

6) Conclusion

Essay

World peace is a choice that rests in the hands of the global powers. As tensions rise and conflict persist, the decisions made by these influential nations hold the key to a harmonious global future. The actions and policies of superpowers have a profound impact on international relations and the quest for global peace. World peace pursuit is a responsibility of the superpowers. Superpowers have potential to work on peace and utilize their influence on other states. Superpowers contain huge influence on the international organization to maintain peace. Superpower has responsible to promoting peace in the world. Superpowers have capabilities and resources. Superpowers can influence third world and other state for as a peacekeeper. Superpowers have active role in the diplomacy and economic assistance. On the other hand, Superpowers not solely responsible for peace because superpowers capabilities and resource use only for their interests. Global peace

Peace require collective efforts. Superpower ^{can} influence on 3rd world countries for achieving their objectives and all nations diplomacy can play role in maintaining peace. However, superpowers are the actors responsible for maintaining peace through vast capabilities. Super powers have role in the institutions and it can act as a peace maker for third world. Superpowers can maintain peace through long-term commitment.

World peace is a choice of super powers. The superpowers of the world have ability to bring peace and harmony in the world. With their influence and resources they can play a pivotal role in resolving conflict and promoting peace. For example, USA and Soviet union engaged in cold war but they pursued arms control agreement to reduce risk of nuclear war. Therefore, it is evident that the choices and actions of superpowers significantly impact the prospects for world peace.

However, current responsibility of superpowers in promoting peace

The unique capabilities and resources possessed by superpowers are pivotal actors in promoting peace on the global stage. With unrivaled economic strength, military prowess and diplomatic influence, superpower stand in a position to maintaining peace. Their influence extends beyond the traditional realm of international relations. For example, The USA has played a crucial role in facilitating peace agreements such as Dayton Accord that ended Bosnian War. Superpowers, by virtue of their unique capabilities and resources hold the key ~~of~~ to unlocking a more peaceful world.

Along with, unique capabilities and resources possessed by superpowers. Superpowers wielding immense global influence that bear a profound obligation to utilize the superpowers for the betterment of humanity to promoting peace. Their influence extends beyond national borders to shaping the lives of billions worldwide. Great powers come with great responsibility, obligating obliging superpowers.

to use their resources and influence for the establishment of a equitable world order. Super powers should place the well being of all nations above their own. For example, China has deployed over 400 peacekeepers to Mali for the promoting of peace (The News International/2021). Super powers by virtue of their global ~~power~~ reach and influence are morally compelled act as stewards of the international community to promoting peace.

Besides, obligation to use the influence of superpowers for the betterment of humanity. Super powers with their vast resources and global reach can significantly influence the Third world countries to shaping its trajectory towards peace. Their influence manifest through various channels such as economic assistance, military interventions and diplomatic interventions. Super powers can promote peace by providing economic aid, facilitating peace dialogues etc. For example, USA play important role in the recent Israel and Gaza conflict, USA diplomatically engage with Egypt and Qatar to cease fire between Israel and Gaza (Democracy in Arab World / November 21, 2023)

Super powers influence must exercise caution and responsibility with promoting peace.

Furthermore, Superpowers can influence 3rd world countries, Superpowers with their extensive diplomatic networks and global influence have actively engaged in diplomatic efforts to promote peace. Their diplomatic engagement encompasses a wide range of activities including mediation, negotiation and multilateral activities. Their diplomatic efforts have been instrumental in resolving conflict. For instance, China play vital role of mediation between Saudi Arab and Iran recently to stabilize relation and promote peace. Super powers diplomatic capabilities and global influence have responsible to actively engage in diplomatic efforts to resolve conflict and promote peace.

Moreover Super powers have distinct power to promote peace, Superpowers wielding immense economic power can play a critical role in promoting peace and stability through the provision of financial assistance. The economic resources of superpowers can be leverage to support wide range of peacebuilding efforts. Superpowers have demonstrated their commitment to economic peacebuilding. For instance, USA provides huge economic aid to developing countries to maintain peace. Superpowers by virtue of their economic strength have the responsibility to contribute their resources to promote peace.

However, world peace is not solely responsibility of superpowers. All nations have a part in the peacekeeping.

In addition, superpowers possess the capabilities and resources to advance global peace but their actions often prioritize their own interest. Superpowers pursuit of national security and economic advantage for own interests. For example, the USA withdrawal from Afghanistan exemplified the prioritization of national interest over international agreement. The pursuit of national interests often clashes with pursuit of global peace leading by superpowers to prioritize their own agendas.

As well as, Superpower pursuit the national interests on peace. Achieving global peace is necessitates a collective effort and shared responsibility. This extends beyond actions of superpowers to encompass the involvement of all nations, civil societies and individuals. The interconnectedness of the modern world demands a collective collaborative approach to peacekeeping. For instance, Paris agreement on climate change exemplified the potential for collective actions. Global peace is not sole responsibility of superpowers.

Moreover, global peace is not solely responsibility of superpowers. Superpower engagement with third world countries is often driven by geopolitical considerations and desire to contain them.

to rivals. Superpower may prioritize support proxy government. For instance, Cold war era was rife with superpower intervention in third world countries. Superpower interference in 3rd world motivated by containment.

Besides, third world countries use to containment other nations. The pursuit of global peace demands the active engagement of all nation not just superpowers. Every nation has a role in promoting peace. For example, the United Nations is a forum for multilateral diplomacy exemplified the potential for collective actions. The pursuit of global peace is not exclusively domain of superpower.

Along with, All nations can play important role in peace keeping. Superpower economic contribution while potentially beneficial are often driven by self interest and strategic objective. Superpowers may provide economic assistance to 3rd world countries with the expectation of securing access to resources. This approach can perpetuate dependency and hinder sustainable development in recipient countries. For example superpowers economic contribution while potentially valuable should be guided by genuine principle of peace and development.

However, Superpower are the actors responsible for maintaining peace.

In addition, superpowers hold immense military, economic and diplomatic resources that influence shaping global affairs and pivotal role in maintaining peace and security. The vast military arsenal deter aggression and provide a stabilizing force in volatile regions. The economic clout enable them to provide assistance for reconstruction and development for achieving peace. For instance, USA intervention in the Korean War preventing a wider conflict that exemplifies the potential for superpowers intervention to maintain peace. Superpowers have vast resources and influence to stabilize world order through peace

Corridor

Besides, Superpower have vast capabilities. Superpowers has considerable influence on insti global institutions due to vast resources. The Superpowers provide a substantial leverage within international organization such as United Nation and the World Bank. They also holds voting powers and allowing them to influence decisions on critical issues such as peace keeping mission. For instance, United States have active role in the UN, IMF and the World Bank. Superpowers hold immense powers in the international institutions that have responsibility to use their power responsibly to promote peace

Furthermore, superpower can influence international organization. Superpower played their peace-keeper role in the third world countries to intervening to halt conflict, protect civilians and facilitate peace processes. The peacekeeping mission often authorized by the UN Security Council with aim to create a secure environment for peace. The potential for super powers intervention to restore order and promote peace and stability in conflict ridden region. For example, China hosted peace talks in the between Myanmar's ethnic armed groups and the Burmese military (Yun Sun/Stimson/2022). While superpowers have important role in the peacekeeping in the third world countries by providing security and supporting peacebuilding effort.

Moreover, superpower can play important role to maintaining peace in the third world countries. Superpower has a profound responsibility to uphold peace through sustained diplomatic engagement. Diplomacy offers a path to peaceful resolution of disputes.

For instance, USA is a major financial contributor to UN peacekeeping and has invested over $1.5 billion since 2005 in security assistance. USA play their peacekeeping role during Yemen and Saudi War. Peace through long-term commitment to diplomacy is the game of superpowers.

Lastly, Superpowers have rich economic resources to invest in conflict-affected regions to foster sustainable development. Investing in various sectors reduce the risk of conflict. It provide frame works to establish peace in the region. For instance, the Marshall Plan implemented by the USA to rebuild war-torn region and promoting stability during World War II. Superpowers can be utilize their resources to promote peace and development.

In a conclusion, world peace is a choice for super power and their actions can significantly impact the pursuit of global peace. Superpowers possess the capability to leverage their political, economic and military influence to foster peaceful resolution of conflicts and support international peace keeping efforts.

Date: _____

Day: _____