

QNo2

A military commander must have physical and moral courage as calmness and serenity of soul are the natural ingredients to command. Health is also a quality but a great passion can prevail over a fragile body. Then the issue of age comes that at what age a general no more remains dangerous for enemies. Historically, many young generals won great battles. However, aged military leaders also earned great victories in the later ages of their lives. Fact of the matter is, young leaders ~~no~~ joined military at very young age and it is quite hard to compare the passion of young man with the experience of an old commander. If an experienced commander accepts new ideas, executes and implements unconventional methods, he will have advantage of his judgment and experience. Similarly, a young commander can also beat a good seasoned general.

Millions of young people in Pakistan come under Generation Z. This is the generation that is born after 2000 and now ages between 23-24. This generation is considered as the most physically weak, lethargic and mentally psychopath in the history of human race. The era in which it grew up is the era that uses technology the most in the history of mankind. This generation grew up; using technology. It has access to internet, mobile phone, tablet, TV channels and social media. This generation is brought up by social media not by the elders. This generation has only one problem in the world. It has less patience and more anger. Their physical health is immensely weak and fragile. This generation is taking the most time to make themselves stable in the human history.

Robert Whitting, an elderly US gentleman of 83, arrived at Paris by plane. At French Customs, he took a few minutes to locate his passport in his carry on. "You have been to France before", Monsieur?, the customs officer asked sarcastically. Mr. Whitting admitted that he had been to France previously. "Then you should know enough to have your passport ready". The American said "the last time I was here, I did not have to show it". "Impossible; Americans have to show their passport in France", sneered the customs officer. The American senior gave the Frenchman a long hard look. Then, he quietly explained "well, when I came ashore at Omaha beach, at 4:40am, on D-Day in 1944, to help liberate your country, I couldn't find a single Frenchman to show a passport to". You could have heard a pin drop.
