and development. According to critics they are still facing a backlash from their male counterparts. Women in most part of the world are uneducated. Women are deprived from their freedom and are not enjoying their rights as men. However, the proponents believed that none of such measures hinders women progress in professional life.

Irrelevant

Indent

professional life is associated with the work in the labour market. The word profession depicts the work that one choose to do for the sake of money. women professional life is the same as men's professional life. A part of involvement at a work place. A part of life from personal life, professional life required work obligations and management. In the 21st century, women are not only managing the

Concluding Sentence

→ While keeping up the development pace, women have also reached the space also. women from different part of the world, while pursuing their profession as an astronaut have touched the heights. Mamira Salim has become the first Pakistani women astronaut, completing successful journey to space. Rayyah Barnaut from Saudi arabia also went to the space this year. women has left their footprints on space.

Reasoning? Logic?

2 women
was meant out of astronauts

What does this prove that was different from previous argument? How does it indicate that women are not on the losing side?

In fact, they are also participating in the decision making. Women are effectively making progress in this area too. There are examples even from

This does not answer whether they are on losing side or not.

Whether the field is science and economy or politics and all you are participating in they are participating

Pakistan, Hina Rabbani Khar, Dr. Shireen Miazgi are the most potent examples. While Maleeha Lodhi (Ex ambassador to US, UK) also an successful professional icon. <sup>? cohesion</sup> women in developing countries are involved in the decision making.

They <sup>do</sup> are not stop there, women are actively involved in the decision making politics.
Most of the women are working as party workers. while joining politics they have paved their <sup>road</sup> towards the decision making (iftikhar raza women in politics, may 2021) <sup>In short</sup> women in politics are not coming slow.

Above all, women are taking part in the research and development. In most part of the world women professionally wants to associated with the research and development.

According to ~~World Economic Forum~~ <sup>Redundant</sup>, women in Japan are ~~greatly showing interest~~ <sup>greatly showing interest</sup> in ~~STEM education~~ <sup>STEM education</sup>. It means that women are not less than men.

However critics <sup>have</sup> raised the idea that the women are still ~~deprived~~ <sup>No one has raised this idea in the context of this topic</sup> from the education. Girls education is not the matter of concern in many countries. In most of the developing countries girls are underprivileged for education (Zahid Mirza, Fake Statistic, Feb 2020). That shows the deprivation of girls from education is exists.

Along with that women are not enjoying freedom of rights. In the labour market the women are deprived from their rights. According to World Economic Forum report 2020, women are facing backlash in the form of long working hours and less compensation in jobs.

That depicts women are paid less for work.

Adding to this, although some of them are involved in decision making while most of them are not doing job even after completing their education.
There are many examples of lady doctors who does not go for a house job being living in a traditional society. They are facing backlash from the society.

Not in jobs so they are not part of professional life of women not part of topic

Though women have dominated positions in politics but their strength in states decision making is not satisfactory. In Pakistan there are only 60 seats for women in the national assembly according to the article 54 of Pakistan's constitution. Means women has no majority in political decision making.

It is true that women are <sup>sign</sup> raising in innovations but still most of the technological hubs are associated with men. There are examples of Elon musk, Sam Altman etc. that shows the back side of so called equality.

Just because they are not leading it does not mean they are not part of it
