6) Conclusion

Life is full of challenges and difficulties. A person has to make these challenges as a strength. Accepting these challenges is part of life. Use of these challenges as a strength is a real challenge and art of life. Similarly, a girl from a small town where girls education was banned by the Taliban not only fought with these challenges but also made these challenges as a strength. Now she is working for all the girls in the world who are marginalized. She is a living example of how to face challenges and make them as a strength. Her name is Malala Yusufzai an example for all the girls to fight with challenges. Similarly, there are number of challenges humans face for example social challenges such as use of right to vote, integration of women, making economy strong and use of education as a strength. Likewise political challenges can also be used as a

Strength like use of strong political will, inclusive governance model, peace and stability and local self government.

Similarly, there are environmental and technological challenges that can be used as a strength like shortage of water, protection of environment, food security and technological use. In a nutshell, life is an art to counter these challenges.

Similarly, after discussing the overall concept it is important to understand the meaning of the term.

Life is not a piece of cake it is full of challenges.

A person has to make these challenges a strength. Life of an eagle who uses his wings as a strength to fly high and to be at a position where no one can reach. Likewise, closing eyes when a person sees danger does not mean that danger will be gone. Facing challenge and That's not the theme of the topic.

The theme is that brave, bold and fearless individuals face challenges or obstacles head on.

The tone of the topic is indefinite affirmative not a suggestion, why are you attempting the whole topic as a suggestion

That is not the feature of eagle highlighted in the topic

Making it a strength is a great art. In a nutshell, making challenges a strength is necessary in life.

After having discussed the meaning of the statement it is equally important to shed some light on the social challenges that people face in their lives.

Likewise, education is necessary to counter social challenges.

Education has this power to bring change in the nation. Life is full of challenges an intellectual person can better fight with these challenges.

An Example of Chinese education model,

Chinese education model used as as a strength to save their traditional norms. Government introduced the system of education where they provided modern education but there was a fear that people can lose their tradition so they used ~~irrelevant~~ education to strengthen their tradition

In a nutshell, education <sup>can</sup> be used to counter the challenges people face traditionally.

Not only education but also right of vote is strength to counter challenges. Right use of vote is necessary for the democracy. The more democratic a country is lesser will be social problems. Use of correct right of vote is strength to fight with social challenges and to mould the decisions of the government. According to report published by Government of Pakistan the voters turnout in 2018 election was 51 percent approximately which was the highest of all the times. This means the voting power can be used by people to resolve their problems.

Not only voting power but also integration of women in decision making and participation in every field is necessary. Women work force participation and decision making is necessary to fight with challenges. The country's strength lies in integration of women in decision making and to boost their participation. Developed countries worked on this model to counter challenges and instead of making them a burden on an economy they can be used as strength to boost it. Bangladesh integrated women in decision making and increased their workforce participation this resulted in increase in GDP growth into many folds. This shows that how women can be used as a strength to counter challenges

Not only women integration but also strong economy is necessary to counter the challenges. Strong economy is backbone for a country. To make economy strong is a challenge for every country. Different schemes are launched by governments to strengthen their economy. Likewise the current GDP growth of Pakistan is 0.29%; (Economic Survey of Pakistan). While on the other hand china to counter its social problems used its economy as strength which is 19.9 Trillion Dollars second in the world; (World Economic Forum). Now China is almost ruling the world because it used its economy as strength while on the other hand Pakistan is still a developing country.

Not only strong economy but also eradication of poverty is necessary. Eradication of poverty is necessary to fight with the challenges. Poverty is a root cause for the decline of nation's image. To eradicate poverty is necessary for any country and to make their population as a strength. Like the case study of China where China's economic model lifted 9 million people above the poverty line making China a strong nation around the world. In a nutshell this is how eradication of poverty can be used as a weapon to Fight with social challenges.

After having discussed the social challenges it is important to discuss how political challenges can be used as a strength to fight with challenges.

Strong political will is necessary for a country.

A strong political will can be used to counter the challenges a person face in the political sphere. Strong political will is needed to make decisions which are beneficial for people. According to Plato; "power does not matter but what a man does with power matters".

This show that how a strong political will is necessary for country's development and the challenges country face.

Strong political will is necessary as well as inclusive governance model is also necessary.

Inclusive governance model is necessary for a country to fight with the challenges that it faces. The more people are involved in the decision making the lesser will be chances to have conflicts. Inclusive government is strength of every country. According to Ishrat Hussain, "Inclusive government is necessary for the country like Pakistan"; (Ishrat Hussain, Governing the ungovernable).

This shows that how specially for the underdeveloped countries inclusive governance model is necessary.

Inclusive governance model is necessary along with it peace and stability in the country is also necessary.

Peace and stability in a country is directly related to the foreign direct investments.

The more the peace more will be the FDI. Developing countries faces these challenges to make their weakness a strength peace is necessary.

The current Peace Index states that Pakistan is 142/163 countries

; (Yale institute of environment and peace, 2023). This shows that while on the other hand China is peaceful in this regard and it has $19.9 Trillion Economy in comparison to Pakistan where GDP growth is just 0.29%; (Economic Survey of Pakistan). In a nutshell, the above discussion shows that how much peace and stability is necessary to harness the economy.

Not only peace and stability local self government is necessary for the the country to fight with the political challenges. Local self government is necessary for every country it gives a strength to a country. As it is easy to resolve conflicts at grass root level. Local government is a strength for countries to make informed decisions. According to Maleeka Doshi "local self government in its true spirit is necessary for Pakistan to strengthen its economy"; (Maleeka Doshi, Pakistan Beyond

The crisis state). Likewise, it is important to have a proper self government model to fight with political challenges.

After having discussed the political challenges it is equally important to shed some light on the environmental and technological challenges that a country faces and how to make these challenges a strength like an eagle.

World is now facing a severe shortage of food.

A shortage of food is a real challenge for the world because the food is the only reason man eats.

To face this challenge is necessary to fight with the overall environmental challenges and to make it a strength. According to world food Authority 201.

of the people are undernourished.

This challenge can be faced to fight with other problems.

Not only food shortage or other challenge is protection of the environment. The protection of the environment is necessary especially for the under developed countries. As these countries already face a lot of different challenges to make environment clean and to counter with this problem can solve other problems as well. Pakistan currently 8th most vulnerable country to environmental change and in the environmental protection index is 103/146 countries; (Environmental Protection Index). So making this weakness a strength is necessary for underdeveloped countries as they are more prone to climate change.

Not only environmental protection change but also water scarcity is another issue that is linked with the environment. The world is facing acute shortage of water. It is even predicted that the third world war will be on this issue. The countries specially the developing one are facing this issue because of the lack of protective measures as compare to developed one.

According to the UN water crisis report Pakistan needs to take immediate measures to fight with scarcity of water while on the other <sup>hand</sup> countries like china having a lot of population made this challenge a strength by taking protective measures. In a nutshell, fighting with water scarcity is necessary to counter water challenges.

Not only environment <sup>like water</sup> but also challenges technological challenges are also there to make them as a strength. The use of technology is also a challenge but ~~the~~ correct use of it can be helpful in development. To make it a strength is a real art. Governments now a days are shifting to e-voting. E-voting has revolutionized the world it has come with challenges to harness them is necessary

According to the Barbra Simon in her Book Broken Ballets "A single mistake can be used as a weakness by the opponents while a lot of vigilance is necessary";

(Barbra Simon, Broken Ballets Will you vote?). In a nutshell, e-voting has its challenges but to make them as a strength is real test.

Along with e-voting the information that flows on internet is also a challenge and a strength to mold the decision. Information that runs on internet has this power to change the mind. It can be used in a good as well as in the bad way. To harness it it is the duty of the government to make it as a strength.

According to Einstein, "Information is not a complete knowledge".

In a nutshell, ~~information~~ on internet can be made as a strength.

In a nutshell, life is a mixture of happiness and challenges. challenges are part of it all people need to do is to make them their strength. Similarly, one can make social challenges as strength by using right of vote correctly and uplifting economy. Likewise political challenges can also be made as a strength by inclusive governance model and political will.

Not only the environmental and technological challenges can also be dealt with overcoming the food, water and technological challenges.

In a nutshell life comes with challenges it is on person how he deals with it. Challenges are part of life to make them strength is the real deal.
