E. Conclusion

Essay

Since this world came into being, it always remained under the shadow of wars. First it was between the tribes, then it turned into the wars between clans. All of these wars were to get the dominant position in the society. As the time passed these small conflicts and wars turned into the wars of states. These wars between states made the superpowers like The Roman Empire, Ottoman Empire and British Empire. These empires remained in wars to become dominant and rule the world. It was all their choice

Too much detail from the past. It still does not highlight the fact that the structure was shaped to favour superpowers. It would also be preferable if instead of going this far behind you go to the point where the current structure came to be, ie WWII

This is debateable. Some people argue they became powerful through war and some say they accumulated power so they could wage war to bring peace to world.

 But, most of the times they preferred to remain in war
for their personal interests to get more power and territory. Currently, the new superpowers are emerged in the face of USA, China and Russia. They are in number of conflicts, both directly and indirectly. These conflicts are not only the Irrelevant to the topic military conflicts but also the economical and political conflicts. Like the Russian invasion of Ukraine, Israel's aggression against Palestine and US
suverelience in South China Sea.
 These issues are becoming a threat to world peace The language is not topic day. Like the superpowers can become a threat to world
peace, they can't <sup>bring</sup> peace to world
through cooperation with eachother.
 Some of these cooperation can be reduction in the number of nuclear bombs, avoidance of formation of military groups and solution of long due issues like the Palestinian issue and Kashmir issue. These steps can bring peace to the world. Since ages, world peace remains the choice of superpowers, and they use this choice for their own benefits. Currently, some issues have bring the new threats to world peace. These threats can be avoided through the cooperation of superpowers.

The topic is not interpreted correctly

World peace always remained a ~~choice of superpowers~~ <sup>redundant</sup> ~~since ages~~. These powers use their military power against the weaker ones to get maximum benefit. <sup>sp</sup> In response, those weak ones retaliate and give a strong

You are not discussing why here as you mentioned in the outline answer to the aggression of superpowers.

The emerging powers always stands with the oppressed to bring down the oppressor ones.

~~USA attacked the Iraq and Afghanistan for its own personal interest. This action brought huge crisis to whole middle east and caused the death of hundreds of people. Such action of the superpower US bring damage to the world peace by giving a birth to number of terrorist organisations. Therefore, world peace is a choice of super powers.~~

The paragraph and the heading do not correlate

Some of the key issues which are opening the doors to new wars are

Israeli aggression against Palestinians. Since 1947, the Palestinians are being oppressed

Also do not write the situation based paragraph. The basis or paragraph should be an argument. This is not, there is no argument in this paragraph.

~~the jews minority. This is only because of their support of US. Israel is working as a proxy of US since its independence. Since the decades of oppression, Hamas, a palestinian group, retaliated and attacked Israel on 7th october. As a result of which Israel started bombing Gaza and killed more than 8 thousand innocent Palesterians. Such an agressive attack is boosting a threat to the peace in the Middle East which can stop the trade of whole world through Suez Cannal. Hence, Israeli agression against Palesterian's is opening a ~~ne~~ door to new war.~~

~~Russia's invasion of Ukraine is also opening a door to new war. Ukraine is back supported by US. US~~ is providing weapons and financial aid to Ukraine to fight Russia. Such action of US can make Russia to stand against it on other conflict. Till today's date, Russia have captured a large area of Ukraine. This invasion is not only a threat to Ukraine, but also became a threat to whole Europe. Such conflict can make ~~sufter~~ <sup>suffer</sup> the whole west. Therefore, Russian invasion of Ukraine is opening a new door to ~~world~~ wars of superpowers.

No argument in the paragraph this is just reiteration of recent happening.

Finland, a neighbor of Russia has joined NATO in this year. Its participation in NATO is becoming a great security threat to Russia. There was a deal between superpowers that no neighbor of Russia will become a part of NATO, but due to the joining of Finland the chances of conflict between NATO and Russia are increasing. Since NATO started the practice in Finland, Russia deployed its army on Russian border which increases the chances of war on other end than Ukraine. Such aggressiveness is becoming a danger to world peace. Hence, Finland participation in NATO is opening a new door to wars.

No argument in the paragraph

Another issue that can open the door to new war is US surveillance in South-China sea. South-china sea has very important strategic position. It not only have have pearl of strings but it also have very large number of oil reserves. China has a claim that whole south-china is its territory, and US is opposing its stance. US has started its surveillance in South-China sea and have deployed warships in sea. China continuously warning US to stay away from the region which can turn into a war between both superpowers. Therefore, US surveillance in South-China sea can oil the fire in the region.

The above discussion highlighted some key issues which are becoming a threat to world peace. Now, next discussion will be about how superpowers can bring peace to world.

Reduction in the number of nuclear bombs and utilization of nuclear power to meet energy ~~needs can bring peace to super powers. Currently US to and Russia has the most number of nuclear weapons. Both are rivals to each other and in indirect conflict with each other in Ukraine. Reduction in the number nuclear weapons and a deal to make them bound not to use against each other will bring peace. Hence reduction of nuclear weapons can become a key factor in bringing peace to world.~~

How denuclearisation will bring peace, It is the nuclearisation that has stopped the world war from happening so far. Also not relevant Another factor that can bring peace is the avoidance of military groups and formation of economic groups. Such an action will bring prosperity by having a healthy competition between states. China, Russia, India, S.Africa and Brazil being in emerging economies formed an economic group BRICS. This groups will make strong economic competition between the existing economic powers and emerging powers. Therefore, avoidance of military cooperation and encouraging economic cooperation will bring peace to the world.

The argument could be made relevant. But currently it does not relate to how the global structure can be made more egalitarian.

Solution of long due issues can bring peace to world. Some key long due issues are the Israel-palestine conflict and Kashmir issue between Pakistan and India. Superpowers can play their role to solve these issues to bring peace in the regions. Giving back the Palestenians their land can bring peace to Middle East which is being in war since 1947. Also, by solving the Kashmir issue can bring peace between two rival neighbors Pakistan and India. Such actions can bring peace to the world.

How to solve these issues?

Opening of trade doors between the superpowers and rivals can bring peace and prosperity to the world. US and China are in conflict with each other over Taiwan issue. Despite it, both are also the strong trade partners. ~~With the solution of conflicts these trades can be increased and these doors shall never be shut. Trade between Pakistan and India is closed. Superpowers can make their role to open the trade doors between these~~ birds also. Such action will bring peace in whole region. Therefore, opening of trade doors will bring peace to world.

US and China are trade partners

Lastly, Use of technology shall be use for the betterment of society. Currently every nation is bringing advancement in its military power through technology. More precise missiles are becoming the part of their military capacity. Rather than using technology for military purpose it can be utilized to bring advancement in other fields like medicines. With the help of AI breast cancer can be detected far faster than other methods. Such developments will boost the life quality and can bring peace to the world.

To sum up, world peace remains the choice of superpowers, and they use this choice for their own benefits. Some current issues ~~which were discussed in previous discussion~~ are becoming a threat to world peace. If these issues are solved timely, it can bring peace for a long time to this world. It always remained the choice of world superpowers to bring peace to the world. They do so for their own benefits. They do war if that's in their interest, and they do bring peace if that's in their interest. They just use their proxies to fight like they are utilizing Israel and Ukraine as their proxies.

Israel - Palestine is not a proxy

also do not add information in the conclusion

Only superpowers has repetitive capability to bring peace to the world. they can bring peace through taking number of actions like reduction in the number of nuclear weapons, avoidance of the formation of military groups, opening of trade doors and utilization of technology for the betterment of society. These actions can bring peace to the society. There is a famous quote of Arthur Henderson about world peace that, "to solve the problem of organizing world peace we must establish world law and order".
