

Title: Begging becomes Profession in India.

In India begging has now become a profession. Indians have very religious way of life and giving charity to needy person is considered as 'Punya' the concept needs to be reversed. Rather the one who don't work needs not to eat either. This give very negative impression to foreigners. There can be so many cause of begging but the most crucial one is masses are uneducated in social sciences. Government needs to make laws for checking of beggars, most importantly in the holy cities where the ratio of beggars are too high. As Begging has become more spreading phenomenon. There are some very ~~more~~ high-profile beggars they used very sober tactics to exploit their patron victims.

Q. 3 Read the following passage carefully and answer the question.

(1) According to author what is likely to become scarcity in future?

Ans :- The most important want in the life of our coming generation will be to have some free time from screen whether it is mobile or laptop. Every individual now is engaged with screen, streaming videos, scrolling headline or working on machine. The number of hours in front of screen is increasing day by day. Most of the people working online, while the younger generation using screen even more for searching, entertainment and playing online games. In <sup>the</sup> current scenario, what will desperately be needed in the coming times, will be some time, even if for a short while, free from machines. But given in the over-increasing dependence on machines, freedom from them will be a luxury one will crave for, but will find it scarce.

(2) What ability have people lost thanks to the constant inflow of data?

Ans :- The constant inflow of data makes the people lose touch with themselves. They have no time and space to think about anything or place it in the larger context. They get so engaged communicating with someone that they have no time to really say something unpreheeded by their own thinking mind. Very few people are managed to be heard because everyone is flooded with "Breaking news" constantly coming on news channels; and, also too busy on the phone & social media. People are not getting time to understand the serious ineff. insufficiency of time in their lives.

(3) ~~what~~ does the author say, 'we've more & more ways to communicate, but less and less to say'?

Ans: The author's statement is based upon common over-indulgence in technology seen today. As their need rush to meet deadlines, people are oblivious to their need for lifelines or their health. Machines have made ~~our~~ our lives much brighter, quicker, longer and healthier but there is no instruction manual to teach us how to use them in the best way or how to sift through all this data provided by them. We should spend some time detaching ourselves from the onscreen to spend our valuable time with our relatives, friends etc. The main problem with the most of people today is to find the way to keep them away from screen; to find some leisure in their life but this not so easy for everyone.

(4) why people taking active interest in old-age food?

Ans: Modern times have trapped every individual into constant screen engagement with TV, mobiles, computer or laptops which is acting as a magnet from where it is not easy to get detached. We need emotional and moral clarity if we are to do justice to our over reliance on machines. To serve this purpose, perhaps, more and more people are getting attracted towards the old age fads.

Yoga, meditation or tai chi are considered as old fashioned rejuvenating practices to stay fit and healthy, even then the modern machine age man is getting attracted towards them to get himself away from screen. There is no religious discrimination in following these old trend as everybody wants to stay fit.

5) Why is modern man unable to empathise with others?

Ans: The modern age man is engaged in fulfilling his ~~own~~ increasing day to day demands. In ancient times man had only few needs to be fulfilled but now the needs have widened. With the advancement in technology man gets busier accomplishing many things as there are many ways of communication. Recent research has shown that after spending time in a quite solar setting; one exhibit greater activeness, strong memory and improved cognition. One's brain becomes clearer and sharper. It is also known that empathy and deep thoughts depends on inherently slow neural processes. The fast paced life of the modern man ~~doesn't~~ doesn't let his mind free for even a moment of reflection, deliberation or deep thinking; so it is far from conducive to the existence of empathy within. ~~Therefore~~ Therefore, modern man cannot empathise with others.

Q: 7 Translation:-

A student's life duty is to learn from teachers and books. who illuminates the dark path of life for them. To accomplish this duty uniformity and consistency is required. And every external influence which oppose it should be strictly separated from teaching circles. otherwise the student training will remain incomplete and the time that should have been spent in acquiring knowledge would be spent in mere political activities. our country needs scholars more than political worker. A kind of scholar that can teach Eastern, western religion and worldly sciences all at once. It is obvious that such universal scholar can be born only when political factors won't interfere in academic pursuits. And it is no wrong
