Humans have forgotten presenting humanity; consequently, they have become far away from success.

Therefore, to succeed humans need to bring out their humanity which is buried inside them.

For this purpose thousands of years ago Hazrat Muhammad (PBUH) made it clear for all that humanity lies before everything. In his last sermon he clearly mentioned all the human rights to be fulfilled by each human. These human rights include: women rights, minorities rights, marital rights, and some more. By observing the above mentioned rights it becomes clear that all these show the act of humanity. As humanity means showing respect to humans life and dignity, protecting animals life and environment. These are examples of many personalities who proved being human was their priority. On the other hand, if humanity is eliminated from the society it has ^{certain} drawbacks. Including: every action demands profit, there will be social disorganization, and the world become chaotic due to war and irresponsibility of the man towards their job and environment. To come out of these crises humanity becomes the only solution as it makes the human realize their real status. The history is full of evidence regarding humanity's success. It which creates sense of selflessness by removing every gap among the people. In a nutshell, no success can be achieved without humanity.

Humanity leads towards success as humanity means moral and ethical behavior of human beings towards other humans, animals and environment. Simply, humanity means realization of human beings towards their responsibilities. A man can be successful if he knows himself thoroughly because by understanding himself, he could be able to understand his responsibility of being a human. Meanwhile which resultantly leads him towards success. "A life not lived for others is not a life" said by mother Teresa. Mother Teresa created many homes for the dying and unwanted children and adults. She also created schools and started teaching their. Her this selfless works for others made her prominent in the world. She defined the other definition of success and humanity. Likewise, there are other examples of prominent people who devoted their lives for humanity and got a place in the heart of every human being.

According to Aristotle "Man is social animal". So, he can't live his life in isolation. He is not able to fulfill his required needs solely. For this purpose he needs to interact with other human beings. Thus, every humans are interdependent on each other to fulfill their needs. For this purpose they need to have a strong bond which tie them by the knot of sympathy, harmony, assistance, ^{and} respect. The human being who used to think only for himself, now has to ~~change~~ think about others. He has to change "I" into "We". By adopting these principles a human becomes social animal from an animal.

Relating humanity with Aristotle's nature of human it is clear that humanity means protecting and respecting human's life and dignity.

~~It~~ without any discrimination. As the first title of the man is human. After that he was divided by nation, religion, caste, race. As Albert Schweitzer beautifully stated that "The purpose of human life is to serve and to show compassion and the will to help others". This Saying clearly identified the purpose of human life. Living a life for oneself is easy and ordinary but living a life for others is more valuable and respectful.

§ Thus, humanity means to save someone when he is in danger and never be the reason behind anyone's death. Furthermore, help those who need help and respect everyone's dignity.

Humanity does not mean the relation between human to human only, but showing sympathy to animals is also included in humanity. Animals also need protection of life and to be respected. Unfortunately humans have become animal by their act. In developing countries there is no animal shelter for animal. They live on the road and become the abused by humans.
