Title :

" Social Consciousness : A Deep Root of Increasing Begging in India "

Beggars and Begging increasing at a fast pace in India. This increase in a social evil is hampering India's international image. Because visitors term their few cities as cities of beggars. It is quite important to study the lifestyle of beggars and the implications of begging on Indian society. The number of beggars in India is increasing because of ordinary Indians who do not beg but have sympathies for beggars because of their religious teachings. Their religious teachings motivate them to help beggars and to seek the reward hereafter. The beggars use different tactics to look miserable and to use sentiments of Indians to obtain their gains.

The uneducated and religious minded people take pity on them and help them not knowing that many of them are not needy but addicted to begging. To counter the problem of begging, western policies cannot be implemented in India because of different reasons behind begging. So, it is the need of the hour to spread awareness in public that just because of religious faiths, helping healthy ~~beggers~~ do and physically fit beggars does not make any sense. Apart from the responsibility of public, Government should also come forward to control this curse by making and implementing policies. This will be the only way forward to control the professional beggars who deceive their country fellows by hiding their real and modernised outlook.
