Q2: Precise:

"Evil of Begging" Begging: a social conundrum

Beggary has become a profession in India. The existence of the large number of beggars is portraying a negative image of the holy cities and foreigners called these, 'the city of beggars'. The religious belief about the charity and the ignorant masses are fueling this evil. Many of these beggars are able-bodied persons faking their appearances, some has inherent nature of begging and exploiting the ignorant people by cursing them. The educated people are now concerned in eliminating this evil. But awareness to the uneducated segment of society and laws should be implemented to minimize this evil. In west Beggary is considered as crime by law. We need of making it clear to the people that this habit can only lead to idleness and poverty.

In short, beggary has become the most wide spread evil.

This is too short

Q.1: The main responsibility of a student's life is to be guided by teachers and books, philosophy which will light his journey of life. Consistency & persistency is required in this regard. The external forces which are present in this way should be rejected, otherwise the fostering of a student will be incomplete. Instead of spending his time in seeking knowledge, he would be involved in false politics. Our country needs scholars instead of politicians who have grip on all the fields like eastern education, western education, religious and worldly education. Such an eminent scholar can only be raised when the politics is kept outside the education domain. This present education system of education is backward as compared to
