~~How to curb Beggars~~

In India, begging is a social problem. The number of beggars has increased to the extent that even some cities are called 'City of Beggars' by foreigners.

The cause of begging is religious and social conscience; many think that giving charities will lead us to heaven.

Due to this, beggars become richer even than their patrons. Due to education, many are now thinking about the issue. ~~Never write first person~~

In many countries, begging is a legal crime. Poverty and unemployment are causes of begging, but the main cause is its deeper roots in social consciousness.

Social scientists should work on the issue as it increases laziness and poverty syndrome. State should devise policies to keep check on beggars.

They exploit victims in different ways.

The duty of student is to take full advantage of books and teachers that will enlighten dark ways for him. ~~The duty needs focus and persistence.~~ Every thing which oppose study should be kept outside otherwise the student will waste his time in irrelevant political activities. Our country needs educated people more than political workers who can work upon Eastern, Western & religious education. Such people will evolve only if politics does not interfere with education. It is said that in comparison with eastern countries our quality of education is low. To some extent it is because of economic situation and we can say that our teachers are not able to build interest of students in education but students are more responsible.
