

Why Men Fight?

1. Introduction:

1.1 Hook

1.2 General Statements

1.3 Thesis Statement.

2. Societal Expectations from a Man

2.1. Man "The saviour of society"

2.2. Man "The provider of society"

2.3. Emotional toughness, Masculinity & competitiveness.

3. Men Defending sovereignty of Country.

3.1. National defense (Military)

3.2. Protection of citizens (Police)

3.3. Deterrence and defense

4. Acting as Controlling figure / Dominancy

4.1. Political Dominancy

4.2. Dominancy in Relationships

4.3. To get things get done & listened.

5. Inborn Instincts:

5.1. To be a Superhero.

5.2. Psychology of a man (Sigma, Alpha etc)

5.3. Medical perspective (Hormones i.e testosterone)

6. Out of fears:

6.1. To evade shame

6.2. Not to be called as weak.

6.3. Losing status and respect.

7. For safeguarding Woman:

7.1. Ensuring rights for woman.

7.2. Woman loved to be safeguarded.

7.3. Saving woman from male dominant society.

8. Islamic Perspective:

8.1. The Concept of Jihad.

8.2. Securing freedom and liberty from unjust.

8.3. Battle of Badr: Upholding truth.

9.

9. Historical Perspective:

9.1. Territorial Expansions: Mongals and Roman.

9.2. Revenge and Retribution: Lebanon - Israel.

9.3. Religious Conflict: Muhammad Bin Qasim invasion of Sindh.

"Men are brave", "Men are strong", "Men never cry", "Men are emotionless" are few famous sayings that can be heard in our society. The man's personality for decades have been portrayed as a saviour, provider and a bread earner. Sadly in our society, weak men aren't listened, heard and even not given due respect they deserved because unfortunately this has become the norm of our society that only strong men are heard, listened and respected. Even in the family where the man is born, everyone expect him to be a man of comprising of dominant traits like emotional toughness, masculinity and competitiveness. Same is the case for man in every aspects of life, that is to be strong. This essay highlights the concept of why a man fight and that is primarily because of social expectations, defending sovereignty of country, for family, to create controlling figure, Inborn instincts, out of fears, for safeguarding woman and Islamic and historical perspectives.