Challenges during Elections

This year elections have given chance to majority of public to cast their votes but misleading information greatly impairs the democratic system. It is already warranted regarding false prejudices that develop mistrust regarding transparency of elections. Voter can be largely affected due to mistrust. The opponents can also target government websites which are working for electoral process. Various stringent steps can be taken for maintaining transparency. To control spread of false information, well-educated members should ensure how grave the issue is, they should release advance warrants regarding misleading information and liberty of expression should be there despite misinformation.
