

Mock Exam 1

Q. Write Outline, Thesis statement & Introductory paragraph

Why Men Fight ?

Brainstorming

Problem	Solutions
Unequal opportunities	→ Transparency
Poverty	→ Welfare state
Education / Alliteracy / Employment	→ Emphasis on skills
Freedom of expression / Dictatorship	→ Democracy
Religion Reasons / Sectarian violence	→ Role of teachers
Corruption	→ Visionary leadership
Rights of minorities / women rights	→ Equal Rights
Colonial mentality still exists	→ Introduce reforms

Outline

A) Introduction :

Hook

General statements

The main reasons are unequal opportunities, dictatorship, existence of colonial mentality and corruption. These problems can be solved by introducing reforms in various sectors, revival of democracy and ensuring transparency.

B) ~~The~~ Problems that cause Violence :

i) Unequal Opportunities :

Poverty

Education disparity

Employment opportunities

ii) Dictatorship

No freedom of expression

Rights of minorities

Women rights

iii) Existence of Colonial mentality

In government departments (Executive)

Feudalism

In judiciary / ^{Judicial} departments

iv) Corruption

Millions of cases pending in courts

No accountability of politicians

Martial Laws in Pakistan and Bangladesh

C) Solutions of these problems :

i) Equal opportunities :

Introducing reforms in department of education
Working on increasing development Introducing skill-based education

ii) Revival of Democracy

Independence of Judiciary
Role of Leaders and teachers Examples from the past

iii) Introducing Reforms

~~Be~~ In executive departments
In Agriculture sector

iv) Transparency in sectors

Role of NAB, FIA, Investigating agencies
Digitization of departments

c) Conclusion

Why Men Fight ?

When Brutus stabbed Ceaser, he was hailed a champion by the people of Rome, but the same Brutus was labelled a traitor after the speech by Mark Anthony. Thus some people might label certain actions as terrorism, but another group might consider it struggle for freedom. Oppression of people via ~~for~~ treating them badly and ~~not~~ not giving them even fundamental rights has been a problem since the beginning. There have been wars for the sake of natural resources, wealth, religious reasons and even for the sake of power. Similarly, civil wars have happened in various countries for the sake of their basic rights. The British, Dutch and French colonized various countries. Initially they came for trade and later ~~on~~ on after realizing that they could oppress them, they didn't leave that chance. The same way, sometimes violence starts within a country due to ~~anarchy~~, lack of opportunities, dictatorship, existence of colonial mentality and corruption. Several countries e.g. France, America, ^{South} Africa dealt with these problems and some eventually later on became developed countries. ~~Not~~ Someone rightly said that Not everything we face has a solution, but nothing can be solved until it's faced. So, by introducing reforms, provision of equal opportunities and ensuring transparency these problems can be solved.