NEED OF TRANSPARANCY IN ELECTION

Almost four billion people take part in election this year. However, the threat to democracy by misinformation and disinformation exists. An effective democracy is a result of evidence-based discourse and informed citizens. Voters are being influenced by false propaganda, undefined claims about candidates or AI-generated deepfakes. Anti-democratic agents might also attack the electoral process directly. Several mechanisms to protect the public against misinformation exist. Three major issues should be ~~solved~~ solved by these mechanisms: seriousness of the problem; accepting the information as false or misleading and assurance of freedom of expression.
