Frailty, Thy Name is Woman

Outline

1. Introduction:

- Attention grabber
- General Statement
- Thesis Statement: Women have been

Write short descriptions playing pivotal role in every field of life. Since time immemorial, it can be argued with confidence that women are as strong as men are.

The thesis statement does not address the topic. Your topic is about the is false notion about women. And it is an open topic. So first address the reason for the prevalence of this notion. How it impacts women. How have women subverted this notion.

2. Role of women in different fields of life:

- Women have been contributing substantially to the medical field centuries.
- In contemporary world politics, women play larger than life role.
- The splendid performance of women in sports categorically suggests that they are not frail beings at all.

Vague. Don't use expressions that undermine clarity.

Don't place the quotes like this. They should be merged with the intro at the beginning.

Believing that women are weak, frail is a false notion. Women are not only equal to men in their performance,

You cannot simply say no to the topic like this. Elaborate.

Also there is no cohesion between the quote and the next sentence but in some fields, they have excelled men. In the medical field, women have been contributing magnificently.

The strength of women can be gauged by the fact that leading women politicians have a great say in the contemporary political landscape.

No cohesion and flow between sentences

The number of women increased many folds in politics in the recent times. Likewise, women do wonders in sports, making their nations

The point is not just women participation. It's about women not being weak, because not only are they performing the same as men in different fields, they are also actively fighting against the norm and perceptions against them. If you only state their contributions, that on its own is not relevant to the topic, because it's not asked.

Proud of their achievements. In fact, it is now a universally acknowledged fact that women contribute substantially to the field of science and technology. Besides this, those who believe that women are physically weak can examine women soldiers serving their nations.

Expression should always be formal and academic. The intro does not overview the topic. It does not overview the reasons and the suggestions.

Wrong use of word

It is not absolutely esoteric to know the factors that have shaped the anti-women mindset.

Introduction is a single paragraph.

The conservative attitude of society is a major factor in creating such false notions. In countries where education is low, people are suffering from such fabricated ideas. In the same manner, feudalism brainwashed people against women. Feudal know that women's empowerment will result in resistance against their interests. Cultural and traditional elements have also been encouraging erroneous ideas among women. Some societies still believe in primitive ideas, which have significantly undermined the due status of women. Misinterpreting religion, some Pseudo scholars have engineered an unsound and baseless perception that women are weak.

To counter such a notion, concerted efforts are required. Sound legislation is imperative for defeating false ideas against women. Women should be empowered to make decisions for themselves. Stern efforts shall be made to educate the common man about the rights of women.

Shall is not used in current academic writing. It is obsolete

The role of the media cannot be neglected in empowering women.

What is this? This has nothing to do with this argument why is it in the same paragraph.

The religious scholars shall be brought to justice for their anti-women sermons. The contribution of women to the medical field is worthwhile. The medical field would not have enjoyed the zenith of its glory had women abstained from participating in it.

Address the argument and relate it to the topic in the topic sentence.

Misconceptions about women. In fact, the conservative approach of men has underestimated the capacity of women. The myths about women in society are so intense that those women who surpass men in a field of life are termed "exceptional cases".

Lack of education is another major factor that has added to the misconception about women.

What misconception?

In a society where education is at a low ebb, people suffer heavily from false beliefs.

Education is not low universally, women are considered weak universally. Your point doesn't hold.
