Conclusion

What is your stance? Your stance isn't clear at all, and if your stance isn't clear, the examiner is not going to pass you at all.

Tim Marshall one of the most prominent authors of a book "A Prisoner of Geography". He ascribes that nations since 1914-45 have experienced downfalls due to invasions. Moreover, Tim ascribes the impacts of foreign attacks to be the only conduit of setback for nation states. Undoubtedly, same is the case with the current world orders. Nations die from foreign aggressions rather than minor internal issues. Invasions create civil wars, corruption, social disintegration and political instability. Alone, social problems don't have the ability to spoil any nation. Wars are the only aspects to influence the existence of any nation. Invasions directly harm the nations rather than political, economic and social rottenness. Therefore, nations die from invasions rather than internal rottenness.

To begin with the critics stance, Civil wars create turmoil conditions of downfall. According to the critics stance that A case study of Civil war in Syria is the provision of social rottenness. The critics describe that the Syrian civil war has vanished the Syrian nation since 2015. Therefore, civil war is one of the social rottenness internally spoils the nations.

Besides, corruption is one of the internal issues which destroy the existence of nations. Critics explain that corruption is the only factor that destroys the nations. Corruption systematically damage the social institutions which result setback of the nations. Nations fail due to corruptions rather than foreign aggressions. Thus, corruption is the only factor behind the downfall of nations.

Moreover, social disintegration pushes nations to suffer fall. According to the critics social disintegration creates disunity and chaos. Disunity and chaos push the nation to be isolated. Social disintegration spoils the existence of any nations. Hence, social integration can make the nations and also it can break the nations. Thus, social disintegration is responsible for the downfall of nations rather than foreign invasions.

Furthermore, political instability pushes downfall of nations. The critics ascribes that political instability vanishes the existence of nations. Moreover, political instability divides the masses. The division among masses economically, politically and educationally push the nation towards fall. Hence, Political instability is the only reason to damage the foundation of nations. In short, political instability destroys the existence of nations rather than foreign aggressions.

Additionally, economic instability also brings an end to the existence of nation states. The critics say that nation states in the African regions have experienced downfalls due to economic instability. According to the critics Congo, Chad and Nigeria have always experienced downfalls in the shape of civil wars, military take over due to the economic instability. Therefore, economic instability is one of the internal problems which destroys the existence of nations.

Also, unemployment is one of the factors which bring an end to the nations. According to nationality of critics that countries with extreme unemployed population have been through setback. Critics say that Sharanka was one of the instances that experienced downfall. Moreover, critics say that unemployment plays crucial role in the setback of nation states rather than foreign attacks.

Apart from unemployment, hyper-inflation pushes individuals to resist against native lands. The critics say that hyper-inflations have destroyed the nation states. Moreover, critics says that nations in the world have suffered setbacks due to inflations rather than

Wars. Therefore, nations die from internal rottenness rather than invasions.

The stances of critics have no reality in the existing world.
Nations die from foreign invasions rather than internal problems.

First and foremost, civil wars are being created by the third parties. Civil wars in current world order has no connection with internal issues. A case study of Syrian civil war was ascribed by scholar Kenneth Waltz in his book "International Politics". Kenneth Waltz ascribes that Syrian civil war is a race of influence among giant powers such as USA, Russia, KSA and Iran rather than internal issue of Syrians. Moreover, Kenneth Waltz gives the Syrian civil war a name of foreign invasion that curbed the Syrians. Thus, Syrian civil war is not an internal hotness rather than foreign aggression.

Moreover, corruption has no capacity to destroy nations.
The critics lack understanding of current world order. Corruption exists everywhere in the world. According to New York Times U.S.A has been facing corruption in numerous sectors such as agriculture, politics, infrastructure so on and so forth. So, corruption has no capacity to destroy nations. Foreign aggressions such war in Ukraine, Gaza and Sudan have the ability to curb the nations. Therefore, corruption is not a threat to the existence of nations.

Moreover, social disintegration is not a threat to the foundation of any nation. Critics do not have knowledge about world system. According to Reuters, European nations have different social divisions. The European nations are famous for variation of opinions about numerous issues such as trade, alliance and relations with the rest of the world though they live peacefully. This is now clear that social disintegration has no capacity to vanish any nation. Thus, social disintegration does not harm the existence of any nation state.

Further, invasions of the foreign powers are more dangerous than political instability. Political instability is itself the provision of foreign powers involvement. According to the U.S Department of the State 2023, Ukraine has suffered from the Russian attacks, ~~thousand~~ times higher than the internal, minor issue of political instability. moreover,  ~~Hamas-Al-Fatah have been suffering political instability since 2006. The political instability between Hamas-Al-Fatah do not harm the nation (Palestinians). When, the Israel attacked Gaza after 7 Oct, the aggression has destroyed every aspect of the Palestinians. Thus, Political instability does not harm the nations rather than foreign attacks.~~

Also, economic instability has no power to curb any nation worldwide. The critics lack the understanding of the world order.

According to John Maharschmeyer's case study of Afghan Taliban 0-1, John maharschmeyer ascribes that the Taliban of 1990-2001 had Faced strongest economic instability and civil disorders though the de-facto regime existed. It was the U.S Airforce, ground troops and Navy raids that pushed Taliban to downfall. Therefore, economic instability does not bring downfall of any nation rather than foreign aggressors.

Moreover, unemployment which is considered one of the internal issues has no capability to destroy the nations.

Critics says unemployment is one of the factors to spoil the foundation of nations. This stance has no reality. Unemployment exists everywhere worldwide, it does not have link with the downfall of nations. According to Anatol Lieven a well known author of a "Pakistan A Hard Country" ascribes that Pakistan huge unemployment rates.

Also, ~~Pakistan Economic Survey 23-24~~ projected Pakistan has ~~21.5 million~~ unemployed youths. ~~through~~ Pakistan does not face downfall. Therefore, foreign ~~aggression~~ harms the existence of nation rather than economy or unemployment.

Also, hyperinflation which is considered one of the internal issues ~~lack~~ the existence of power. Hyperinflation has no power to vanish the foundation of any nations. According to ~~World Economic Forum Report~~ on ~~Inflation 2023~~, ~~to~~ countries in Africa ~~and~~ Asia suffered from hyperinflation although such countries curb the inflation. Inflation is not a threat to existence of countries, it is to be only power of invasion to destroy the existence of nations. Therefore, hyperinflation does not harm the existence of states.

In nutshell, nations have been suffering from extreme aggressions.
The aggressions of powerful nation states have vanished the political, social integration, economic, education and culture sectors. Foreign aggressions have not only curb the sectors of the countries but also vanished the foundation of the nations. moreover, internal rottenness does not harm the existence of nations. Internal problems can be seen everywhere with profound solutions. On the other hand, foreign aggressions which spoils every aspect of the nation state cannot be seen with solutions.

Therefore, nations die from invasions rather than internal rottenness.
