Question # 2

Q-1

Answer - 1

The primary reason of most people failing in their new year resolution is not in the resolution itself but in the way of approaching those resolutions, due to which people often failed to achieve their New Year resolutions.

Answer - 2

The New Year resolutions are usually ineffective in a way that people set no measurable goal instead vague goals are being set. another reason is setting goals with social pressure instead of own genuine motivation of doing something long run, moreover, people do not consider realities of routine life and limitations while setting goals so the goals are not realistic. Therefore, people could not make their goals effective though they are highly motivated at the start of the year.

Q-3

Answer - 3

There are some psychological factors which keep people making new year resolutions despite knowing they might fail, which is a hope of having a fresh, new start. Every new year brings new hopes for people which they believe is an opportunity of a new start. That's why people keep making new resolutions every year.

Q-4

Answer - 4

A more effective approach to achieve lasting change instead of making new year resolution is set realistic goals with practical approach instead of vague and broad ones. Further to break down main goal into further double sub-goals. With this approach people can bring real lasting changes.
