

Date ~~31~~ Tuesday

31-12-24

ENGLISH

TEST-1

Question - 3

Synonyms of words

- | | |
|---------------|------------------|
| 1- Candid | Blunt |
| 2- Eloquent | Fluent |
| 3- Alleviate | Relieve |
| 4- Exacerbate | Aggravate |
| 5- Ubiquitous | Omnipresent |
| 6- Taciturn | Quiet |
| 7- Abhor | Hate |
| 8- Meticulous | Careful |
| 9- Prolific | Abundant |
| 10- Apathy | lack of interest |

Date: 31-12-24

Tuesday

Question - 1

Precis of the Passage

Mostly the people don't understand that a mere corruption and dishonesty will end up as a serious damage to society. Violation of the rules and the moral values for the time being comfort, would become a custom gradually. At first, such deception would only affect the society, but, later on, it would cause hindrance in the progress and development of country. Thus, the cycle of corruption would run in every field and it brings inequality.

It would be a cause of hopelessness for those who follow the rules. People would become habitual to such environment. As a result, larger crimes and greater societal issues would be the part of society.

Self-accountability and invocation of rules would build an equitable world.

Title :

Corruption and its consequences

Question - 2

Comprehension Passage

Answers :-

(1) New year's resolutions are made impulsively, when people feel enthusiastic and optimistic about the future. Such resolutions and self-promises fade as quickly as they were made. This is because they were not made with their genuine instinct rather than societal pressure or impulsive desires.

(2)

Sometimes new year's resolutions are made without the genuine desires. Thus, such resolutions will become difficult to follow and ultimately be abandoned. Moreover, the resolutions they made, may not align to their daily routines and personal strength, so, they will be quit after weeks or months.

(3)

The psychological factor that keeps people to make New Year resolution year after year despite knowing they may fail — the human desire for renewal. Everyone wants change in his life. So, with New Year people want to reinvent themselves by grasping productive habits and having their better versions. That's why they make New Year resolutions with a new hope.

Date: _____

(4)

To achieve a lasting change when should adopt the habit of being 'practical' instead of making resolutions. If one is focused on its goals and works on it with continuity and aligned it with the personal values, only then can lasting change be achieved.