

Q1 Title = Butterfly effect: corruption mother of all ills

People do not hesitate to comm

-it little illegal actions to get benefit.

However, these <sup>small</sup> corrupt deeds combine and form corrupt society. It causes domino effect and spreading positively into society.

People assume there is not any implication of it, but, it affect progress of develop ment, social ethics and cultural morality.

Thus, this vicious cycle continuously haunting whole society. There are multiple negative impacts of corruption: social inequality, stunted success, breaking laws public distrust, and believe in integrity. It makes use to crimes which lead people think that justice is unattainable. Corruption hampers politics, economy and society. Therefore, there must be focus on the small deeds that contribute in larger one and cause distress, every single action affects society, so, everyone should work on it to build a fair and livable society.

Q3

1- Sincere

2- Fluent

3- Mitigation

4- Aggravate

5- Commonplace

6- Overt

7- Hate

8- Careful

9- Productive

10- Detachment

Q2

2.1

Primary reason of people failing to keep their new year resolutions is lack of practical actions to achieve their resolutions. They fail due to lack of well defined goals, it is human nature to make decision in the presence of happy mood, but too difficult to achieve.

Q 2.2

There are multiple reasons behind the ineffectiveness of resolutions even though people use to highly motivated while begins of year. People do not take systematic measures to attend their resolutions, idealistic and metaphoric resolutions which have unattainable future.

Q 2.3

The human desire to make new year resolutions indicate their willingness to do something in their year. A fresh year brings fresh opportunities and enthusiasm that attract psychology of an individual and they made resolutions.

Q2.4

More effective approaches to achieve New Year resolutions are those approaches which contain practicality, planning and sustainable deeds.

People must shift their resolutions from the idealistic to practical.