Shengen countries are rejecting visa applications from Pakistani citizens without concrete reasons. Despite ensuring adherence to all the requirements, Pakistani citizens are not considered for visa and are notified with vague reasons for rejection. Conversely, Western citizens easily acquire Pakistani visas to enjoy themselves with their trips to Pakistan. The cause of rejecting Pakistani visa applications might be that Shengen countries mistakenly assume that Pakistani citizens will cause issues across Europe. These countries should consider Pakistani citizens as ordinary humans, and this might happen when their citizens face similar difficulties in applying for Pakistani visa.

Ans:- The main reason for George Foreman's transition from boxing to business (why) was that a home appliance company approached him for an advertising contract after he became world heavyweight champion in boxing. He accepted the offer on his wife's insistence and proposed branding the product as the "George Foreman Grill" in exchange for 40% of the profits.

2)

Ans:- The competitive advantage of the George Foreman Grill was the fame and popularity of George Foreman, which helped boost the product's sales.

3)

Ans:- If Foreman had not sold the naming rights, he would have incurred loss because the competition was increasing and the market was becoming saturated.

4)

Ans:- There are contrasted and complementary sentiments in this (story)<sup>x</sup> story. At first, he lost match against Muhammad Ali and that was a sad moment. Due to poor financial planning, he wasted his money and was broke, further increasing his sorrows. He, then, revived himself and returned to boxing. The happy moments came when he became heavyweight Champion. His happiness was complemented when he earned a lot of money in royalties and by selling his naming rights.

5)

Ans:- This text was arguably successful to a great extent in presenting the true picture of Foreman and his struggle. The text highlighted significant moments of successes as well as failures of Foreman. It also explored both social and economic conditions of Foreman's life and presented his continuous struggles to achieve success in his life.

An African thinker once said, "When the British came in Africa, they had modernity and we had land. They said, 'We have come here to give you prosperity.' We shut our eyes and when opened, we had modernity, and they had our land." Similarly, when the science of social networking came, they had Facebook and WhatsApp. They said, "This is free." We closed our eyes and when opened, we had Facebook and WhatsApp, and they had our freedom and personal information. That is why, when anything is free, we have to pay for it with our freedom.
