

Q: Elaborate the importance of Zakāt and how it can alleviate poverty.

Ans:

INTRODUCTION

Zakāt is one of the pillars of Islam on which the structure of Islam is based.

Zakāt is a way of giving charity described in the Holy Quran which literally means to purify and to grow. The concept of Zakāt - giving charity - is to avoid the accumulation of wealth in one hand and let the money liquidate in the society which also eliminates poverty from the society. Allah S.W.T and His last Prophet - Muhammad S.A.W - has always ordered the followers to pay Zakāt and distribute among the needy.

ZAKAT - OBLIGATORY CHARITY

Terminologically, Zakāt is the amount of charity which is to be taken out by a Muslim from his wealth every year, according to the amount prescribed in Islam, i.e; 2.5% of the wealth or wealth equivalent to 52.5 tola of gold or silver.

A muslim cannot deny from paying Zakāt and Allah has commanded in the Holy Quran;

"And perform the prayer, and give Zakāt."

- Al-Qur'an.

Zakāt does not mean to reduce ones wealth by but to increase it and purify it by giving away. One who pays Zakāt benefits himself and not the others. Zakāt is designated by Allah for the poor, hence Zakāt is taken from the rich and given to the poor.

DISTRIBUTION OF ZAKAT:

Allah has mentioned in the Holy Quran, about how Zakat is to given and who is eligible to fall in the category of getting Zakāt.

Zakāt is to distributed among the following people;

- ① Faqirah → People with low wealth.
- ② Masakeen → Extremely poor
- ③ Wal-Amileen → Appointed to collection of Zakāt.
- ④ Muallafat-ul-Quroob → Newly converts to Islam
- ⑤ Ar-Riqab → Slaves with agreements
- ⑥ Al-Gharimeen → People in debt.
- ⑦ Fī Sabīl Lillāh → Need to give in the path of Allah.
- ⑧ Ibni-us-Sabīl → Travelers, who may be well at home but not during travelling.

Allah has identified these people as the one's who can be given Zakāt and denied to give Zakāt to non-muslims and as remuneration for services.

IMPORTANCE OF ZAKAT

Zakāt has been mentioned numerous times in the Holy Quran as it has its economic and social benefits. Zakāt is said to be the "Backbone of Economic System" of Islam. The major aim of Zakāt is to establish a self-supporting society which gives everyone a chance to fulfill their basic necessities and avoid begging.

Poverty Elevation:

The liquidity of wealth via Zakāt - giving charity - helps elevate poverty from the society. Shah Wali Ullah - a muslim scholar said;

"Wealth purification denotes the mobilization of assets for the purpose of financial growth and justified distribution".

Zakāt , helps the needy to fulfill their needs and elevates poverty from the society.

It is in the Holy Quran , those who give charity will always be rewarded double by Allah (S.W.T)

Removes Lust and Greed Of Materialism:

The person who gives charity every year is given special rewards by Allah and Allah also removes the greed of materialism. Hence a person gives more charity which further reduces the accumulation of wealth and the wealth liquidates in the society, reducing poverty.

Holy Prophet (S.A.W) said;

"O Allah! Give him more than he spends".

HELPING AR-RAQIB:

Among the eight eligibles, Ar-Raqib are the slaves work for remuneration and have signed an agreement with their master to purchase their freedom on payment of fixed amount.

Helping them out and giving charity to them can let them free their selves and end the slavery. Zakāt purifies the heart of the one who give it and satisfies the needs of the ones who receive it. Hence, paying out charity to Ar-Raqib will let them free and work to earn for themselves and their family.

BALANCING SOCIETY:

Charity on yearly basis by all the wealthy households of the society will help reduce the gap between the rich and poor. Allah has ordered to give regular charity in the Holy Quran;

"And establish regular prayer and give regular charity".

DATE: ___ / ___ / ___

As it helps the poor - with no means of income - to not beg to anyone for their basic needs and alleviate the state of extreme poverty and avoid asking for help from every person passing by.

Poverty Alleviation = Crime Alleviation

The major reason of crime in all the societies is minimal sources of income and no means of sustenance which leads a person to commit crime. Edwin Sutherland in his Social Learning Theory of crime, states that a person commits crime ~~do~~ according to the lessons learnt from the society. Hence, people commit crime when they other with numerous ways of income and adequate resources they commit crime - theft - to attain what other ~~do~~ have. Giving out charity to those people will alleviate poverty and so the crime rate, from society.

CONCLUSION

"Who believe in The Unseen are steadfast in the prayer and spend of what we have provided for them." (Al-Qur'an)

The verse of the Holy Qur'an, written above highlights importance of spending, what is provided by Allah - giving charity. Hence, it is
