

Outline Introduction

Q. "Today a Reader, Tomorrow a Leader" Margaret Fuller

Intro

b) Background

c) Thesis Statement

ii) Main Body:

1) Wonders of Reading

a) Grooming individual Personality

i) Better Cognitive Health

ii) Enhances Language Skill and Comprehension

iii) Improves Social Understanding

iv) Broaden Perspective

v) Source of knowledge

2) Mirror of the Society

3) Window of Past

i) Lessons of History

ii) Free trip around the universe

iii) Inspirational Character

4) Source of Relaxation

i) Escape into peaceful world

ii) Escape from daily tension iii) Way of spending time with yourself

Examples of people changing their personality and world through Reading

i) Barack Obama

ii) Bill Clinton

iii) Bill Gates

Conclusion

"Today a Reader, Tomorrow a leader." (Margaret Fuller)

Reading is the process of getting meaning from the symbols which are written. For some reading is hobby, for some reading is compulsion, for some reading is just a joy activity. But reading is beyond all this. Reading is a way of looking at world with different and innovative perspective with quest of discovering something new. The average American reads about 17 books per year. Indians read 16 books on average, per person, per year. Britain read 15 books per person every year. Now, the secret of development can be guessed from the habit of reading. The wonders of reading are never ending. This essay includes grooming individual personality, mission of the society, window of past, source of relaxation and different examples of people who impact the world through reading.

To begin with, the first wonder that grooming of an individual means that reading changes the entire personality of readers. It is scientifically proven fact that reading improves one's cognitive health. It sharpens the mind and keeps it open to new ideas. Reading also helps to improve one's language skills and comprehension. Up-to-date reading helps the reader to keep up with the new words and vocabulary. It increases the vocabulary bank of an individual. Along with vocabulary, it brings confidence in an individual's personality. One learns through reading how to elaborate an idea. It also helps the individual to understand the society. The reader understands the culture, customs, and trends of any particular society through reading. He starts to understand the temperament of people of a specific society. He learns through reading how to understand the concept of how to move in society. Reading also broadens the one's perspective of viewing the world. Reading brings forth the illuminating ideas of seeing the world. One may start watching the universe with positivity. Every fact has different angles. They are just needed to be explored. Reading is also a source of knowledge. Every new innovation is the result of previous work. By reading that, any new innovator is able to extend that particular research. Every new research is based on previous research. Reading helps the reader to take away a bulk of knowledge from the book.

Reading is the only factor in any era which has made time travel is possible. How? It opens up the window of past as well as future. It also takes us to the world of imagination through fiction. It takes us to the past where ~~some~~ somewhere there is battles somewhere everything is just fine. These are the books of history which have captured the footprint of ancient people. Somewhere Pandemic has ended the civilization, somewhere it has just started to flourish. So, this is only possible through reading that we travel in fast. Even it is giving ~~me~~ us many lessons that what were the reason of ~~fall~~ rise and fall of any nation. There is also lesson how tyranny has always faced downfall. How kind  $\nabla$  leaders have ruled over the heart of people? In short it is lesson for today's every individual how to improve yourself. It also acts a ~~read~~ free trip to the universe. Reading always offers us a joyful activity. It helps us to move through mind from Earth to space without spending any energy. Reading also helps us to inspire from the great figures of the history which we have never seen, which we'll never see but they are our inspiration. It's just the miracle of the reading that we're aware of every single aspect of life of our heroes. It helps to become more practical and close to action of our figures from which we are inspired.

Reading is also a source of peaceful journey. In the hustle and bustle of this modern life style, only one thing is difficult, that is giving time to yourself. Reading is the only activity which removes the stress of life. It offers you an escape in a peaceful world, where there is no hurry, no worries, and you are travelling with characters. It is also a way of escaping from daily tension. Reading is solely your own activity. You are not answerable to anyone what you are doing? Sometime, while reading books, characters are giving answer to your questions, queries. One thing that reading do to a reader is that it raises the curiosity level. It is the most wonderful way of spending time with yourself. You will feel free, without burden when you will read any books.

There are many people's examples who have transformed themselves and world through reading. They include Barack Obama who is considered the well read president of America. He gave credit to the reading and said that reading led me for better argumentative skill. Bill Gates, co founder of Microsoft reads 50+ book in a year and said "Reading is the main way that I both learn new things and test my own understanding". Also, Bill Clinton, 42nd president of America said that reading books helped him to understand different point of views.

So, we can say that "Today a Reader, Tomorrow a Leader" because through reading one is at least able to ~~be~~ be the leader of his own life. He has his own lens of viewing world.