

English (Precis and Composition)

Q #4

Correct any five of the following sentences.

Answer:-

I - Most of the shelves in the library are empty.

II - Chocolate or vanilla: which do you like better?

III - Ten miles is a long distance.

VII - The student wrote a 20-page report last night.

VIII - Learning to play the piano requires a lot of efforts.

Q #5 (A)

Punctuation:-

Bill Gates, once, had a coffee at a coffee shop when the waiter was taking the dishes away.

Bill Gates tipped him one Dollar.

"Whenever your daughter comes for coffee she gives me a five-Dollar tip," said the waiter. "She is the daughter of a billionaire," replied Bill Gates. "And I am the son of a poor carpenter." This is why, it is often said, never forget your past because your past is your greatest teacher.

B

Rewrite the sentences with appropriate prepositions.

- i- He poured the water into the glass.
- iii- The people were driven to despair by the horrors of war.
- iv- His success cannot be cried down by anyone.
- v- There were lots of shops on the main street.
- vii- He wrote them a cheque of $1000.

Q # 7

Translation into English:-

An African timber merchant said, "when the British came to Africa, they had progress, and we had land. They claimed they were here to bring us development. we closed our eyes, when we opened them, we had progress, and they had our land."

Similarly, when social-networking science arrived, they had facebook and what's App. They told us it was free. We closed our eyes, and when we opened them, we had facebook and what's App. ~~and~~ while they had our freedom and personal information. Thus, whenever something is free, we end up paying for it with our freedom.

Q#3

Answer the following Question:-

1- what were the reasons behind Foreman's transition from boxing to business?

ANSWER:-

Foreman's transitioned from boxing to business due to a combination of factors. After his initial retirement from boxing in 1974, he wasted his fortune due to poor financial decisions, bad spending habits and lack of planning. By 1987, he was broke and had no work. Despite returning to the boxing ring and reclaiming the heavy weight title in 1994, he found success not just in the ring, but through being authentic and reinventing himself as a personality people could relate to. His transition to business was catalyzed by an unexpected opportunity to endorse a product, the George Foreman Grill, which led to a profitable venture outside of boxing.

(2)

What was the competitive advantage of the George Foreman Grill?

ANS:- The competitive advantage of the George Foreman Grill lay in its unique design that allowed grease to drain off during cooking. This feature appealed to consumers looking for a healthier way to cook. Additionally, Foreman's charismatic and relatable personality, along with his focus on family values and fun in the commercials, helped the grill stand out in a crowded market. The emphasis on family and enjoyment, rather than just the product, made it highly marketable and popular among a wide audience.

(3)

What would have happened if Foreman had not sold the name rights?

ANS:-

If Foreman had not sold the naming Rights, he could have continued earning royalties from the product as it remained popular. However, Foreman understood that competition was increasing and the market was becoming saturated. By selling the rights for $137.5 million, he ensured that he ~~had~~ made a significant profit at the peak of the product's success. Holding on to the name rights might have led to diminishing returns overtime, as the market became more competitive and consumer interest decreased.

(4)

What kind of contrasted and complementary sentiments are evoked in this story?

ANS:-

The story evokes a range of emotions, both contrasted and complementary. On one hand, there's the contrast between Foreman's initial fall from financial success, marked by his retirement and loss of wealth, and his later triumph in both boxing and business. His financial struggles and setbacks create a sense of despair, while his ultimate comeback generates feelings of hope and inspiration. His story is about resilience and the power of reinvention.

⑤

How far is the text successful to present the true picture of Foreman and his struggle?

ANS:-

The text is successful in presenting the true picture of Foreman and his struggles. It highlights his resilience, his willingness to reinvent himself, and his ability to adapt to new challenges. The passage captures his personal transformation, from a feared boxer to an authentic, relatable figure who leveraged his fame wisely. It also provides insight into his financial struggles and how he overcame them through smart decisions. By focusing on both his failures and successes, the story paints a well-rounded picture of Foreman's journey, showcasing his growth, adaptability, and entrepreneurial spirit.

Q: NO: 6
Words into sentence:-

1- Peek:- I peeped out the window to see who was there.

Pique:- She was greatly piqued when they refused her invitation.

2- Flounder:- The poor horse was floundering in the mud.

Founder:- Quaid-E-Azam was the founder of Pakistan.

3- Shear:- The farmer taught her how to shear sheep.

Sheer:- She wore a sheer scarf that flowed gracefully in the wind.

4- Discrete:- A room is a discrete space within a house.

Discreet:- He made discreet inquiries about the job.

5- Epigram:- Benjamin Franklin's Famous epigram, "Remember that time is money."

Epigraph:-

She has chosen this remark as the epigraph for her new novel.