

QUESTION NO:2

INTRODUCTION:

China started its economic coordination and integration back in 2013. The major objective of BRI was regional connectivity and financial integration. The one road one belt initiative aimed to invest in more than 150 states and international organizations. The Wester World in collaboration with KSA announced another initiative India-Middle-East Economic corridor in a move to counter China's growing integration and success of BRI. Though the level of investment in IMEC is far less than BRI. IMEC is still in its phase of MoU (Memorandum of Understanding) while BRI celebrated its decade long journey last year. The future of BRI is bright and IMEC would serve to enhance economic cooperation but the impression of overcoming BRI's influence is not near.

A-

BRI AND IMEC : A Brief

Overview:

BRI launched by China in a move to integrate financially in different countries of the world.

The project mainly focused on improving infrastructure and regional connectivity to increase trade and economic cooperation. China emerged as competitor of US as an emerging economic giant. Since then efforts are being made to counter China's growing influence in order to preserve

US hegemony. In the G-20 Summit held in 2023, launch of another economic corridor was announced by the members. IMEC focuses on connecting India to middle east and Europe. The corridor will help increase economic cooperation within the participating economies.

B. BRI VS IMEC : A Comparison

1. INITIATION AND PROGRESS OF THE TWO CORRIDORS:

BRI was launched in 2013 with CPEC as its flagship program. In 2023 China celebrated decade long success of BRI.

The world witnessed that the projects launched under BRI are actively progressing. While IMEC has been launched recently in 2023. The Agreement of IMEC is in the MoU stage, primarily indicating that the initiative is in its preliminary planning stage.

The progress and speed will be analysed once the work on the project officially starts.

2. SCALE OF INVESTMENT:

Another stark difference between the two projects lies in their scale of investments. BRI has an estimated value of around US $ 8 trillion to be used in different projects in different parts of the globe. While the scale of investment of IMEC is much smaller in comparison to BRI. The investments of IMEC are projected to be smaller, possibly a few billion dollars only.

11.05

3- THE DIFFERENT OBJECTIVES:

The objectives of the two initiatives differ in their scope of project investments. BRI largely focuses on connectivity, unimpeded trade, financial integration and people to people interaction. While the objective of IMEC is mainly economic development. IMEC aims to bolster economic development by fostering connectivity and economic integration.

4. THE GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION TARGETS OF THE TWO INITIATIVES:

BRI largely focused on the involvement of developing economies. The investment in these states will help both sides as the developing economies are in dire need of investments. While the initiative of IMEC largely involved developed and rich economies. The involvement of US, middle east especially KSA points towards inclusion of established economies only. BRI spans to include around 120 states around the globe primarily the struggling economies while IMEC is planned to cover around 20 countries mainly in middle east and Europe, the developed and established economies.

5- THE FOCUS ON TRANSPORTATION MODES:

BRI has diverse network of its projects including land and sea routes. The development of ports and land routes. It is estimated that 70% of BRI network focuses on land based routes. On the other hand IMEC mainly emphasizes sea transportation including shipping lanes, rail and road networks.

6- THE SCOPE OF PROJECTS :

BRI includes wide range of products ranging from the infrastructure to energy, agriculture and formation of special economic zones. While the scope of the projects envisioned in BRI is limited as they mainly focus shipping lanes and rail and networks.

7- THE DIFFERENCE OF DIRECTIONALITY:

BRI has multidimensional and multi-directional scope of its projects - BRI focuses connecting China, with Asia, Europe, Africa and America. Same way connecting all these to China. But IMEC is primarily uni-directional connecting India to Europe and middle East.

C- FUTURE OF BRI :

The future of BRI is quite bright based on the progress of its decade long work initiatives. The progress in the first ^{phase} is much satisfactory and points towards the bright future. Moreover the launch of second phase and the initiatives and goals set are optimistic and the fulfilment of these projects envisioned in the second phase will change the dynamics of the world with China as the major competitor of US.

The perception being built that China's BRI is similar to East India Company needs to be addressed in order to secure the future of BRI.

D. FUTURE OF IMEC:

The financial viability is enhanced by the wealth of participating countries. The robust involvement of private sector can expedite the completion of project.
However IMEC faces some challenges.

Complex nature of coordination among the competing countries is a hurdle. The ongoing disturbance in middle east region may challenge the implementation of IMEC. The completion of IMEC presents economic opportunities for investment and cooperation for developing Countries like Pakistan.

CONCLUSION:

It can be concluded from the comparison and contrast of IMEC and BRI that the scope of the projects is limited in IMEC. Moreover the launch of BRI encompasses more than 120 countries and International actors while IMEC has very limited investment and scope. Though the future of BRI is evident and secure the completion of IMEC is yet to happen but it will provide immense investment opportunities for the developing world.
