

Traditional family structure can not bear the challenges of the modern world.

Outline:

- 1- Introduction
- 2- Manifestation of traditional family structure
- 3- How traditional family structure can not bear the challenges of modern world.

(A) Modern world has overthrown the role of patriarchal family system

(B) Growing divorce ration, a threat to traditional family structure

(C) Rise of social media has diminished the interaction in family,

(D) Same Sex-marriages and rise of LGBTQ movements in the modern world

(E) With the rise of modernity in relationship, rise of polyamorous relationship

(Case in point: India and the USA rise in Polyamorous youth)

- (F) AI robotic womb has changed the role of conventional mother.
- (G) Robotic love making has decreased the ratio of marriages
- (H) Rise of pornography has decreased satisfaction of married couple, eventually collapsing relationship
- (I) People are breaking the shackles of traditional family by adopting family planning.
- (J) Economic strains in developing countries has inclined youth toward girl-friend boy-friend culture weakening the role of traditional family

4- Suggestive measures to make traditional family adaptable to modern world

- (A) Promoting sex education in masses
- (B) Enhancing relationship counseling
- (C) Balancing traditional values with the modern values

5- Conclusion:

Human life is a complex phenomenon. Life does not remain same but it changes with the changing dynamic of society. In the growing interdependency in the form of social media and in artificial intelligence the modern world has posed various challenges to traditional family environment. The rise of patrio modern world wo order has overthrown the patriarchical step of family. Moreover, growing ratio of divorce and excessive use of social media have made family system vulnerable. Modern world has given rise to the LGBTQ movements and the poly-marous relationship in youth broking the traditional family values. Furthermore, in modern world AI robotic womb has ^{not only} changed the role of mother but also decreased the ratio of marriages in the form of "Robotic relationship." Family planning and due to economic strains and the easy and affordable boy friend girl friend culture have made traditional family structure vulnerable. Hence, traditional family structure can not bear the challenges of modern world, however, however, promotion of sex education, enhancement of relationship counseling can curb the severity of the situation

The traditional family structure is based on old family values such as gathering, consensus in decision making, adherence to cultural values. Moreover traditional families are large in structure, there are ten to twenty members in family. Mostly, the grand mother and other relatives such as uncles, aunts, parents are live together. Furthermore, the occupations in traditional families are determined by the will of majority. Children as well as youth in this kind of families are dependent upon the decision of their grand parents even, they can not make independent decision of their education as well as their marriage. Hence, traditional family structure is totally different from the modern world.

Modern world is posing a challenge to traditional family by overthrowing patriarchal setup. In modern world many movements are opposing the idea of patriarchy. The "Women March" is a manifestation in which women demands their rights in breaking the cages of patriarchy. In fact, in modern world patriarchy has been considered the root evil of inequality prevailing in society. The demand of individuality and overthrown the old patriarchal setup can be observed all over the world. Now, the role of old traditional family structure has been diminished in modern world.

Furthermore, the growing divorce ratio displays the weakening of traditional family setup in this modern world. Modern world has made more people rational. Moreover, the tolerance in people has diminished, people do not like to adhere to old family system. A 2013 study in Couple and Family Psychology noted that 75% of the divorces caused by the lack of commitment among couples. This study is a clear manifestation that the old traditional family structure which has low divorce rate now became vulnerable to this growing modern trend. Hence, growing divorce ratio manifested the vulnerability of traditional family structure against modern world.

The rise of social media and its increase in daily life has destroyed the traditional family structure.

Traditional families are prone to gathering and fun making by expressing their life acted activities with the family members. But the cell phones and excessive use of social media have destroyed this bond. According to a study on social media spending is increasing which became a reason of strained relationship. Spending family time with the social media is a threat to traditional family structure in this digital world.

Another challenge is a rise of LGBTQ movement in the modern world which has shocked the traditional family structure. The same sex relationships are considered queer in traditional families because these type of relationships are changing the status quo. The world has witnessed a great rise in same sex marriages. For instance, many developed countries have made these marriages legal, France, ^{the} USA and UK are the clear example of this. Hence, the rise in LGBTQ movement has put the traditional family structure in a threat in this modern world.

Modern world has put traditional family into a threat in the form of growing polyamorous relationship. Polyamorous relationship is a kind of relationship in which partner seek independence in spending time with more than two or partners.

It denotes a sexual relationship among three to four people with the consent of legal partner, such as wife's relation with the friend of husband and in the same way husband's relationship with other women having consent of wife.

This trend is clearly visible in Indian society as well as in the western society.

Hence, polyamorous relationship is a new form of modernity in relation which has made traditional (relationship) family an old idea.

The IA robotic womb is another aspect of modern world which has changed the role of conventional motherhood putting old traditional family structure in danger. AI has made able for a couple explore family choices. They couple can change height, colour intelligence level of the child with robotic womb. Many female in modern world are seeking robotic technology in child bearing. The increasing tendency of modern world has made the family tradition not obsolete. Hence robotic womb is considered a challenge to traditional family setup.

MTWTFSS

Robotic love making is a result of growing modernity which has shocked the foundations of traditional family structure. People in the modern world are more inclined to robotic technology for their physical satisfaction avoiding human relationship. A clear manifestation in this case is Elon Musk's adopting robotic technology for relationship. Moreover, many devices are being exploited for physical satisfaction in this modern world. Here the increase of robotic technology has proved traditional families are not adaptable with the modern world.

With the growing modernism human being have become adaptable to pornography which has been considered a threat to traditional family. Modern world has made technology efficient and affordable. Young people spend most of their time in watching pornography which have reduced their tendency to plan a family. According to a study 2.5 million people watch porn site in every 60 second. This alarming ratio display a the fact that traditional family structure is vulnerable in this modern world.

Moreover, the economic strain has lead generation to adopt boy friend and girl friend culture which is dangerous for a traditional family structure. The economic strains has made marriage an unaffordable thing the young generation are falling into unhealthy relationship because this kind of relationships are more affordable than marriage. Moreover, young people can not afford to challenge a single partner this growing trend has a death to the traditional family structure making it an idea of the past.

Moving toward suggestive measures, one of the most crucial step is to provide sex education among young couple which reduce the frustration in young people and make them a responsible partner. Eventually the provision of sex education reduce the ratio of divorce in the couple and making them adaptable with their partner. Hence, sex education is a viable solution the growing gap among generations and safeguarding the traditional family values in the form of successful marriage.

Another way forward is promoting counselling among individuals which reduce the couples and make people partner able to choose their partner according to their chemistry. Majority of the people rush for a relationship on the bases of physical appearance, later they collapsed in the form of divorce. Relationship conceitly generate a decision making in young people which make ensure a strong relationship. Hence, relationship coming a crucial step toward ~~reviving~~ reviving the traditional family values.

Balancing traditional values with the modern values in the form of introducing modernity in the traditional family structure ^{can} strike a balance between the both ends. Traditional values such as harmony, love and respect are the ensureance of long relationship. These values must be incorporated with the modern world. Moreover, traditional families must adopt an independence decision making. The member of family must have right to chose education, career and ^{have} opinion in their ~~mass~~ choosing.

partners. Hence balancing a traditional and modern values can curb the widening gap between the two extreme ends.

In conclusion, It can be stated that a traditional family structure can not bear the challenges of modern world. Growing modernism and diminishing role of patriarchy, increasing divorce rates, rise of social media and its role in private life, rise of LGBTQ movements and polyamorous relations are challenges that are making the traditional family vulnerable. Furthermore, AI robotic wombs, use of robotic love making, rise of pornography have put the traditional family setup on verge of collapse. In the same way e-people are breaking shackles of tradition adopting girl friend by friend culture as well as reducing family with partner planning. Hence, Modern world have imposed various challenges to the traditional family structure which can be curbed by effective relationship coming and