Conclusion

"Sweet are the uses of adversity"

(Shakespeare)

The above words of Shakespeare, a famous English writer, clearly state that the outcome of adversities are sweet.

A ship is safe in harbour, but that is not the ships are built for.

Similarly, a man is safe in comfort zone, but men are not made to stay in comfort place. As a ship has to leave the harbour, and face the obstacles of journey to cross the sea; a man has to face the difficulties of life to reach the destination.

Comfort zone does not refine one's inner-self. One has to tolerate the sufferings of life to bring the desired outcome. The life of Siddhartha

He chose human suffering to find the inner-peace. He established Buddhism, which millions of people follow him. He was safe in palace.

He decided he is not made for luxury. On the same pattern, Alexander the Great left his palace at the age of 20 years, and he conquered powerful empires. Although one feels safe in comfort, struggles bring beautiful destinations. Adversities in life take one to one's destinations. A man has to face continuous setbacks for the ultimate success. The life of the Holy Prophet (PBUH) is the glaring example of facing continuous hardships for the glory of Islam. Similarly, Nelson Mandela was safe in his home. He chose imprisonment to fight against the apartheid. Examples of other people like Abraham Lincoln, Abdul Sattar Edhi, Elon Musk substantiate the stance that men are not made to live in comfort. They are made to change the destiny of humans by facing adversities. Just like ships that are built to cross the sea, not to stay in a harbour.

Comfort zone does not refine one's inner self. A man does not learn anything in safe zone. He has to face the hardships of life to know his inner strength. Adversity brings a man to himself. For instance, Siddhartha Gautama was prince in his kingdom. He was safe in his palace just like a ship in harbour. He chose to leave his materialistic life style. He wanted to face human sufferings. He suffered through his life and resolutely found the inner peace. He is the founder of Buddhism. Millions of people follow him. Ergo, one has to leave comfortzone to bring revolution.

Furthermore, struggles lead to beautiful destinations. History is filled with the examples of people who left their easy life for the greater cause. Just like a ship which is built to cross the sea, they were made to change the human destiny. The life of the holy prophet (PBUH) is a glaring example which shows that He (PBUH) was made not to stay in the cave and worship God, but he (PBUH) was sent to change the humanity forever. He (PBUH) faced hardships at every step of his journey to preach Islam. He never chose to stay in comfort. His struggle led to the glory of Islam. Ergo, a man is not made to find peace for just himself, he has to change the destiny of humanity.

In addition to this, it is not the facilities but the adversities which bring glory. A man has to compromise his safety by leaving the facilities of life to find ~~the~~ success. He has to acknowledge that he is not made to live in the past. He has to move forward to change the future. This can be substantiated from the life of Alexander the great. He was 20 years old when his father was assassinated. He became king. He could easily live and enjoy the comfort of kingdom. He was not made for easy life of kingdom. He struggled and won numerous battles. He defeated Persian empire and King of Persia. He could choose to stay in kingdom, but he was made to conquer the world. In same way, ship is not made for harbours but to cross the sea.

On the same pattern, one has to face failures to achieve success in life. A man is not made to get disappointed at the moment of failure. He is created to fight with determination to bring the desired outcome. The people who could not muster courage to face failures, hardly succeed in life. On the other hand, some people learn from their mistakes and try to improve their work. Thomas Edison is the one who invented bulb. He could become hopeless after continuous failure, but he chose otherwise. He failed 999 times and succeeded one time. His success brought light in the darkness of the world.

In addition to this, for a greater cause, one has to suffer. Sufferings in life bring the desired outcome. One could avoid suffering by living in safe zone, just like a ship in harbour. To achieve the greater cause, one has to choose hardships and suffering. The life of Nelson Mandela is filled with continuous struggle. He struggled his whole life to liberate his people from continuous oppression. He fought against the apartheid in South Africa. He tolerated twenty seven years of imprisonment. At the end, he brought equality and inclusivity in his country.

Moreover, creativity does not come with single action. It comes with repeated actions. One becomes creator only when one is continuously rejected by others. History is filled with the example of the people who face rejection with gratitude. Rejection in their life did not make them hopeless. They did not chose safety over rejection in public. They knew that they are made to become more creator. For instance, J.K. Rowling, an English writer, faced rejection many times till her famous book 'Harry Potter' became talk of every town. She did not lose hope. She ~~can~~ faced rejection with more determination to write something different.

In addition to this, determination against hardships helps to achieve one's goal. Hardships come with opportunities. A man has to come out of his luxurious life to achieve his goal. Hardships make human more determined. For instance, the life of Abraham Lincoln is profound example of the fact that despite his inability to get education from school, he graduated in law by self learning. His business could not flourish. He became bankrupt. He could not win election. He realised that he was not made to accept defeat. He worked hard, and became president of the USA.

Furthermore, easy life does not bring beautiful destination. One has to choose between easy life and dream. The people who chose dream abandon their comforts of life. They work day and night for the realisation of their dream.

Elon Musk, an entrepreneur, is a living example of this fact. He was born in poverty. He was living with a dream in his eyes. He wanted to explore the space. He changed his life style. He took risk of spending all his earnings in his company. He faced bankruptcy. He did not leave his dream. He ultimately succeed by establishing a billion dollar company: Space X. His hardwork helped him to materialise his dream.

In addition to this, when one come out of comfort zone, one faces continuous setbacks in life. Continuous setbacks bring refinement in one's work. The refined work ultimately takes one to the glory of success. On the other hand, the people who do not sustain during set-backs never face the beauty of fame. Cristiano Ronaldo, Baber Azam and L. Messi are the living examples of this truth. They faced the setbacks in life with fortitude. They chose struggle over comfort. They knew that they are not made for defeat. Resultantly, Ronaldo and Messi became best players in the world of foot ball. Baber Azam, despite adversities, became one of the best player in cricket.

In addition to this, continuous defeat brings new ways to succeed. When one try something new or different in life, one faces defeat. Defeat brings pessimism or disappointment for some people. They blame others for their failure. They keep crying and do not try to change their life. On the other hand, there are some people who accept defeat. to learn from their mistakes. They come out of their phase with new zeal and courage. and consequently, they succeed in their mission. For instance, Mahmood Ghazni attacked his enemy sixteen times, but could not win. He learned from his mistakes. At the seventeenth attack, he defeated his enemy. He could choose defeat, but he chose difficult path to success.

Lastly, tough tasks bring ease for others. One come across with the struggle of the people who spend their whole life to bring ease in others life. The most renowned name is Abdul Sattar Edhi. He has the ability to earn as much for himself to live rest of the life with comfort. He realised that he is not made for just himself. He chose to help others. He collected money penny by penny. He established 'Edhi Foundation'. Edhi Foundation has saved millions of life to date, and still serving people after his death. To recapitulate, a ship is safe in a harbour, but that is not what ships are built for. Similarly, a man made, though safe in comfort zone, has to face the difficulties of life to conquer the world. A ship, by staying in harbour, cannot cross the sea. A man in comfort zone can not change the lives of others.

To recapitulate, a ship is safe in a harbour, but that is not
