Title:

Respecting state Institutions : An Essential Feature of Democracy

The respect of state institutions is the fundamental feature of democracy. Such institutions include judiciary, legislature, and executive. The core responsibility of judiciary is to interpret law, promote human rights, and prevail justice and peace. Similarly, legislature represents the masses. Parliament plays vital role in protecting human rights by making people oriented laws. Moreover, executive branch is responsible for the implementation of such laws. Hence, it is imperative for people to respect the functioning of judiciary, parliamentary rights, and executive policies. However, the Bill Clinton walked into a Karachi restaurant and asked the waiter; "Do you have biryani?" The waiter grinned; "Ofcourse Sir! our biryani is so good, it'll make you forget your own name." Bill laughed; "I hope not! I need that for Imran." Later during a power outage, Imran quipped, in Pakistan, "We don't need candles, our biryani can light up the room." Bill replied; "True and if you add some spicy chutney, we might even have a disco party." They both chuckled, realizing that in Pakistan humor and hospitality go hand in hand, making every meal an unforgettable experience.

Translation

All the degrees will lose significance in the next three years. The rampant advancement in technology is resulting in irrelevance of human based knowledge. Talent overweighs knowledge when the vast information comes in the hand-sized devices. Along with this, growing technology is posing threat to ^{the ones} who delivers moral speeches in numbers and to those teachers who teach students in the class room.
