

Q 5 (A)

Bill Clinton walked into a Karachi restaurant, and asked the waiter, do you have biryani? The waiter grinned, of course, sir. Our Biryani is so good, it'll make you forget your own name! Bill laughed, I hope not! I need that for the Imran!

Later, during a power outage, Imran quipped, in Pakistan, we don't need candles, our biryani alone can light up the room! Bill replied, true, and if you add some spicy chutney, we might even have a disco party! They both chuckled, realizing that in Pakistan, humor and hospitality go hand in hand; making every meal an unforgettable experience.

Q7, Translation

All degrees will become useless within three years. Our knowledge and curriculum are becoming irrelevant with the rise and boom of technology. In an era where information is easily accessible through phones, skills overshadow mere knowledge, and actions are prioritized over thoughts. This ultimately poses a threat to the traditional methods of imparting knowledge in classrooms and motivates for students driven by the internet.

Respecting state institutions: Upholding Democracy

The judiciary deserves utmost respect, as it serves as an institution to dispense justice and ensure accountability to the nation.

In the same vein, the legislative branch equally deserves respect, as it respects the diversity and democratic elements of a country. The executive branch, as the bedrock of managerial responsibility for the state, also deserves equal respect.

However, the collective work of the three branches leads to the progress of a state. Political leaders should set an example for citizens. It is imperative to respect institutions to uphold the democratic principles of the state.

Q6, (B)

- Heer asked Ranjha where he had been because she missed him so much.
- Ranjha replied her that he had to travel, but his heart never left her. Then he asked that how she had been.
- Heer expressed that she was lonely without him. And asked him about his journey.
- Heer then questioned about what he learnt during his journey.
- Ranjha answered that he learned the value of struggle and the strength it gives.
- Heer expressed that she had been counting the days of his return.
- Ranjha said that he had been counting the moments until he could succeed in his final trial.
- Heer replied that they should not dwell on the time apart. They are together now, and that all that matters.
- Ranjha said that no, the exam are near. But his success will conquer distance and time.
