Question no. 6 (b)

Heer asked Ranjha where he had been. She had missed him so much.

Ranjha said that he had to travel, but his heart had never left her and asked how she had been.

Heer said that she had been lonely without him and asked about his journey.

Ranjha said that it had been a quest for self-discovery. He had wandered through valleys and crossed rivers, but his thoughts had always been with her.

Heer asked what he had learned on his journey.

Ranjha replied that he had learned the value of struggle and the strength it gives.

Heer said that she had been counting the days until his return.

Ranjha replied that he had been counting the moments until he could succeed in his final trial.

Heer asked not to dwell on the time apart. They were together then, and that was all that mattered.

Ranjha negated that the exams were near. He had to leave. But his success would conquer distance and time.

Question no. 7

Degrees are going to lose their worth within few years. The technology has prevailed in society that past knowledge, sources of knowledge and even different courses have become irrelevant. When the whole encyclopedia is available on phone, it leads skill and action to precede knowledge and intellect. The forthcoming problem is that how teachers would make internet addict students to learn in a classroom in traditional way.

Question no. 2

Title : The Role of state Institutions For Upholding Democracy

Judiciary, one of state's institutions, responsible for carrying out the functions of law interpretation and human rights protection demands undue respect. Likewise, legislature, the law-making branch is essential for upholding democracy.

The Executive, similarly, requires support for interpreting laws. When citizens put their faith in executive, government works diligently. When all branches work together, sustainability and development prevail. Not only citizens, but political leaders should also uphold the principles of accountability, participation and rule of law. Strengthening state institutions is fundamental for a functioning democracy. Therefore, citizens must respect all three pillars of government and play their role in building a society based on the principles of democracy.
