Hence, the Women ruler would create educated society which would bring happiness in the world.

The women ruler does not only prove helpful for the maintainance of peace in society but they also would prove beneficial for society: accord-at the economic field. The woman is not a fragile creature of the world. They can also take participate in economic development. The percentage of women is increasing day by day. If they are not at the behind walls then the world's economy would grow. How many ?
How ?
Chavavistic ruler created various barriers for girls like glass ceiling, g wage discrimination etc. Therefore various countries could not contribute properly in the GDP generation of the world. This perspective is still observed in various As Our country stands at 142 out of 176. (According to Global Gender Gap Index 2023) If the women would rule over the world. This specific type of gap would not be created. The world economy would grow. So, the world GDP growth would be better than the present.

The Women ruler is not proved beneficial for improving world economic condition. but, if they would also improve the world's economic peace. There minor issues are like iceberg in society. They look minor but they would play an essential role in the progression of a society. There are various minor issues like gender discrimination at domestic level which is now a create barrier in the progress of a society. The elimination of the minor issues would eradicate the robbery, corruption and theft in

There are various reasons which are considered to be given the authority of leadership to men. Although women ruler would create educated society. Yet this society would replete with emotions while men create rational society. The politics and governance requires rationality rather than emotional. The rational perspective proves benefit for society. The emotional type of education did not provide better way for the world. For example medieval age was based on religious emotion which did not allow them to grow. So, the world's peace require rational approach.

Women's ruler would create peaceful world but the peaceful method is for short term not for long term solution. The men looks at every aspect. These aspect will guide him to take decisions through long term perspective. Men tackle the issues technically and handle all these problems very technically. Therefore, men is considered to be best for leadership.

Women are considered to be prove beneficial for society but there are various types of jobs which requires only male rather than female like construction etc. While men is considered to be the bread winner of society whereas women are considered to be the suitable for handling such ~~pr~~ domestic duties. Therefore men ~~pr~~ provides more jobs to male rather than female. In this way male concentratedly focus on his work properly and contribute in the world economy.

Although women's governance is best for resolving the disputes whereas men is considered to be best resolving disputes. There are various major issues like corruption, international relations with other countries etc. International relations requires rational decisions rather than emotional decisions. If the ruler begins to focus on his only domestic affairs and neglects external threats then he will not be able to rule properly. The man is considered to be best for handling these major issues.

Women also take good ideas for legislation but men also take good legislation for country. A man who has a balanced approach he takes the best decisions for society rather than female.

There are various rulers who also look at the various general and specific issues of society. For example, Musharraf take steps for the protection of women. Antonio Guterres the General secretary of UNO also takes steps for the welfare of women. Therefore, men also prove beneficial for the legislation.

Although women would create the society which is replete with emotional education rather than emotions. This emotional type of ~~emotion~~ education will also prove helpful for the betterment of society. The various conflict in the world will resolve through emotions will prove better rather than rational perspective. In this way the emotional type of education create a better world.

Men also take good legislation but the minor issues are also highlighted through the help for the participation of women. Minor issues will become major issues of a society. For there are like icebergs they create hindrances in the progress of a country. For example, the domestic gender discrimination firstly neglected at society but now it becomes a global issue. Therefore the ruler women would take step of legislation from the beginning then the world ^{will} into a peaceful situation.

Women's legislation for proves beneficial rather than the male. The men look the world through rational lenses whereas women make various types of legislation from the

over the basic issues of society
For example various types of law regarding children and women are the outcomes of the women's participation in parliament. 'No nation can ever succeed until the women ^{can't} work side by side with men' (Quaid-e-Azam). Therefore the women can make better legislation.

Women Although men are considered to be the breadwinner
but the men women is no more less than men. Women can take part at every sphere of life.
If women were the rulers they did not create gender wage discrimination and glass ceiling concept in the society. The women are nowadays doing those jobs which are doing men like defence etc. Therefore Women would do same jobs as men is doing then, the world would prosper. The symbol of nation's progress can be measured from the percentage of women's participation in society at economic sphere (Karl Marx)

Gender
Conflict

Men is considered to best for handling various issues at international level but women would resolve all these conflicts through bilateral dialogues rather than wars or battlefield. We observe the 2 world war and various conflicts are still present at the world under the leadership of male leadership. The female would resolve these conflicts through bilateral dialogues. As Benazir Bhutto tried to resolve the conflicts between

1/1/20

India and Pakistan through dialogues and agreements. In this way we can say that the women would resolve the disputes with the help of negotiations.

To be concluded we can say that the women would make better legislation, protect society, and provide better economic opportunity.

The various type of gender discrimination emerge through unders the leadership of male. Women would create peaceful world in the society. As they are human beings.
