Q:1

Title: The Dark Side of ~~Social~~ Media.

Media plays an important role in providing information and education to the people of a society. But it creates confusion and disorientation among them. The first factor behind this dilemma is the ability of social media to spread misinformation and false news. This ability of social media leads to the inability of the people to distinguish between real and false news. The media shows the complex matter in a way that propagates binary and polarized viewpoints. Moreover, media also leads to information overload that makes difficulty for the people to understand the vast amount of information. Media also involves in shaping the cultural and social norms of society. The content produced by it causes conflicting values and creates confusion about societal and individual realities. ^{The} Media does it for the sake of encouraging its viewership. The controversial role of media contributes to the generation of extremist ideologies among people. It all happens if the media remains unchecked. The ~~private~~ personal interest over the collective interest alters the real meaning of society and creates a chaotic society
