Q1: Translate the following.

A) - Any form of noise that interfees in human life is called noise pollution.

If left unattended, this can have severe impacts on body and mind of human and animals. In Pakistan, noise pollution is a leading cause of torment, tension and suffering. Noise pollution has reached a dangerous limit in urban areas and big cities. For example, according to an environmental protection survey of Punjab agency, the level of noise has reached 91 decibel in Lahore when a maximum of upto 75 decibel is bearable. This means that the mental and physical wellbeing of many people is already at stake.

B) - Mother nature has instilled in human character a strange arrangement of always being tied by the thread of hope and desire. When one thread falls out, he holds on to the second. When the second thread breaks he moves on to the third. This way, the process goes on till his last breath. Maybe if Nature didn't have this system of hope and prospects in human's personality, he would have ceased on the first disappointment. He would ^{have} died of hopelessness.
