O humanity! Be mindful of your Lord who created you from a single soul, and from it He created its mate, and through both He spread countless men and women. And be mindful of Allah - in whose Name you appeal to one another - and honor family ties. Surely Allah is ever watchful over you.

(Surh Nisa:01)

Allah says in Surah Nisa that He created both men and women in the earth, so that they can recognize one another. It shows that ALLAH has created both men and women as they are equal and imperative. So, the world can not be complete either without men or women. The world is incomplete without women because an educated woman makes an educated generation. Similarly women are an essential contributors to the economy. Moreover women's participation in politics is essential for the promotion of democracy values. In like wise women have significant role in healthcare and domestic was, women have to face uncertainty & society do not acknowledge the importance of women and they have to face challenges. Women are considered inferior, victims of gender based violence, exploited at workplace and so their basic rights are violated.

All these challenges create grievous impacts like uneducated generation, less economic development and women's health suffers.

However positive steps can be taken for the empowerment of women like awareness at national and international level in order to change patriarchal mind set.

Similarly there is need to take measures for women's healthcare, educational and political empowerment.

The significance of women can not be ignored in every field of life whether it is economic, political or educational. Women are indulged in many responsibilities and roles as mother, as wife, as sister, they have to play their gender defined roles in the patriarchal society. Throughout history, the central role of women in society has ensured the stability, progress and long term development of nations. Globally, women comprise 43% of agriculture labor force. And in some countries it is 70% (Global Volunteers). In fact, women's representation is also important for the enforcement of laws related to social well being of women.

Similarly women also play important role in regulating domestic affairs.

 United Nations Development Programme, women are pillars of the world's future. They have to do the unpaid care work.

An educated mother make an educated generation. It means that one educated mother has potential to give her children with ideal civilization and moral character. Similarly she transfers her knowledge to children in a way that they become responsible citizen of a nation, and moreover the optimistic behaviour is ingrained with next generation in a manner that there remains no space for violence. In this way society become violent free and productive. The Napoleon Bonaparte in the 18th century said that:

"Give me an educated mother, I shall promise you the birth of a civilized, educated nation."

This shows that the women role as mother is very important in making a productive nation.

Women are essential contributors to the economy. Women in urban and rural areas contribute in national economy. In rural areas women contribute in agriculture like sowing and raise national economy. Like wise in urban areas women participate in every aspect of life like education, medical, entrepreneurship, politics and many other professions. Although women are paid less than men for same work, they contribute in economy. Despite gender inequalities in the labour market and gender wage gaps globally, women migrant workers were responsible for sending half of the estimated $601 bn in remittances worldwide in 2016.

(Western Union, "Western Union Pays Tribute to Global Women Work-Force as World Economic Change Agents and Calls for greater Recognition and Integration", 2016). Hence the role of women in boosting world national and international economy is very important and can not be ignored.
