

Elections are the only solution to multi-pronged problems in Pakistan

Outline

The thesis statement:

Political stability due to free, fair and transparent elections would bring economic, social, ethnic and security prosperity in Pakistan. However, there are some hurdles in the way but through providing proper awareness about the importance of elections these hurdles can be overcome.

I. Introduction

II. Elections in Pakistan - an overview

III. How elections do remove the multi-pronged problems of Pakistan:

A. Brings economic stability

a. Attracts Foreign Direct Investment

b. Accelerates local business

c. Reduces inflation

B. Provides social sustainability

a. Overcomes unemployment issue

b. Helps to minimize poverty

c. Assists to maintain gender equality

C. Facilitates to diminish ethnic crisis among provinces

D. Creates a peaceful environment

a. Eradicates security threats

IV. Implications that Pakistan is facing due to delayed election process:

A. The undemocratic role of non-elected players

B. The violation of the basic human rights

V. Hurdles in the way to conduct elections in Pakistan:

A. The inefficiency of the Election Commission of Pakistan

B. The non-democratic behaviour of the political parties

C. The lack of interests of electorates in elections viii. Ways to conduct elections on time:

A. The need to create awareness among masses about the importance of elections

B. The production role of ^{the} Election Commission of Pakistan to conduct elections

C. The positive and democratic approach of political parties towards elections

viii. Conclusion

States that conduct elections on time and transfer power to the elected ones are making progress in every domain of life. This shows, elections play an important role to tackle multi-pronged problems of a state. So, Pakistan is not an exception. Today, the country is facing a plethora of problems due to delayed election process. There is a dire need to conduct elections. By doing so, the country would be able to overcome its issues. This is a universal fact that political stability brings economic prosperity. If elections conduct on time, it will bring economic stability. This economic stability will further bring social and ethnic sustainability in the country. Besides, security dilemma of the country will be minimized. However, there are some hurdles such as the lack of interests of masses in elections, the inefficiency of the Election commission of Pakistan and the political parties' undemocratic behaviour.

Although some steps have already been taken, more are required. To materialize election process on time, there is a need to create awareness about the importance of elections. Furthermore, the role of political parties and ^{the} Election Commission of Pakistan would be constructive to hold elections on time. Thus, the multi-pronged issues of ~~the~~ Pakistan can be solved.