Role of Media in Society

Media keeps society informed. However, a wrong news can mislead people. The reason of spread of manipulated information is the creation of hype about minor issues. In real sense, the major problems are often not highlighted. Resultantly, people cannot differentiate right from wrong information. They cannot develop clear opinion. They cannot estimate the gravity of the problem. They get confused, even after knowing the truth. Meanwhile, as the news is displayed all day long; to critically analyze the information becomes difficult. media also develops social norms through different outlets. It forms the culture. Sometimes, irrelevant but eye-catching content negatively impact society. All this happens in society where media becomes unruly. In short, when individual motives become supreme over collective interests disharmony becomes the ultimate fate
