

Translate the passage into English:

A

The noise of any sort that creates disturbance in man's life is called noise pollution. It can cause grave mental and physical implications for man and animals, if left unchecked. In Pakistan, noise pollution is one of the major reasons of pain, anxiety and stress. Noise pollution is upto the dangerous level in urban areas and big cities. For instance, according to the survey - conducted by Environmental Protection Agency - in Punjab, noise pollution in Lahore is ninety one decibel (DB), while its maximum acceptable range is seventy five decibel (DB). This indicates that mental and physical health of many people is already at stake.

B

Nature has created, in a man's instinct, a unique aptitude of optimism. On disappoint of one hope, he starts aspiring for the second and then third and so on. This process continue till his death. Probably, man would have died with pessimism right after his first disappointment had nature not instilled in him the element of hope.
