CONCLUSION

Good

How would be the world if Allah has sent <sup>off</sup> Adam to the earth? Would it possible to continue life on earth? How would be the earth having only men as humans? How a society would flourish without having women in it? Pondering on these imaginary concepts is giving a brilliant picture of life without women involvement in it. The world is incomplete without a woman because it is the women who has a portal to bring life on earth. The very first indispensable role of a woman is giving a birth which would never be possible without her. The second very crucial role of women can be noticed when they upbring a child and start building foundations of a healthy society. Similarly, throughout history women have been making invaluable and overlooked contributions in different fields of life worldwide. A woman's contribution to progress and development of a society starts from her family life where she is a mother, a caretaker, a teacher, a household worker and an integral part of society. Not any society could progress without women's involvement because women are making about half proportion of the world's population. However, after realizing significance of women in shaping society, there are still a lot of grey areas. Women are not ~~often~~ treated equally as ~~of men~~ ~~they are being~~ marginalized and oppressed on the basis of gender inequality. Therefore, it is quite a call for action that leaders and organizations must take effective steps recognizing the importance of women.

This essay presents a clear picture of the importance of women in society. Besides, it also shows development of contributions of women from past to present and what future endeavors can be done to recognize and empower women.

Throughout history, women have made enormous invaluable contribution to the progress and development of a society. The very first contribution of woman was to start life on the earth by giving birth. Since then, with the contribution of women, one can see how humans started to make societies and communities.

Additionally, since the start of civilization women have played a pivotal role in shaping the course of events. In the realm of family life, examples of

Hazrat Muhammad (SAW)'s wives is important of muslim world how they shaped communities of Islam and played their role in the training of muslim girls and how they gained grounds not only in social but in practical and political life. In the field of sciences, one can see, Marie Curie's ground breaking revolutionized discoveries. Similarly, in the fields of human rights and suffrage, Susan B. Anthony, is a prominent name. Not only this, women have also travelled through space to encounter other worlds, for example, Valentina, who travelled in space. Likewise, women in wartime like Florence Nightingale, demonstrated resilience and strength, while giving a message that they are equally important to man. These above mentioned historical contributions of women, though often overshadowed, are vital in understanding the pivotal role of women in developing a society.

The significance of women is not only restricted to the past, even today women are performing multiple tasks in their social life. The influence of women on family dynamics is multifaceted and a foundational aspect of societal cohesion. Within a family unit, women serve as nurturers, caregivers, mothers and an emotional anchor. In a family life, their role extends from traditional gender roles, encompassing moral and emotional support, decision making, health and overall well-being of the family. The balance in the roles and responsibilities of women contributes to the stability of the family. A woman at home is the first teacher of her child. Her role as a teacher who teaches social and moral values, traditions, religious life and behavior patterns to her progeny, is such an undeniable fact. This can be illustrated from a well known saying of Napoleon Bonaparte, who said:

“Give me a good mother, I promise I will give you a civilized nation.”

So, the role of women as a nation-builder starts from her effective socialization of children.

On the same footing, women's role in community development is also vital because she contributes significantly to the social fabric and sustainable progress of societies. Engaging women in community development leads to more holistic and integrated approach, as they bring diverse perspective in community development. Women play role in health care, education, grassroots movements, and community improvement. This involvement of women in social fabric fosters collaboration and courage and empowers local residents to bring their share of progress in community life, as the presence of women in social life is essential for long-term sustainability of society. As Margaret Chan says:

“The multiple roles that women can play in a society of given the opportunity is really a tremendous asset”.
