	Introduction:	-
	Aristotle known as the founder of political science" has had significant contribution in the motters of state and governance.
	His writings and political thought also have great relavoncy in the present time despite his ideas being extremely old.
	Context:
	Aristotle's father was a doctor whose subject matter was the human body. A doctor's methodology is scientific and based on observation. Therefore Aristotle was trained 2	to first observe and then find ail the schulion through the scientific method.

idea was alopic whereas Aristotle was toined by his father on using the scientific method. So his subject matter in Athens was ako state but he newed it from a different lens based on empirical evidence and leasoning.
So the theory of state was given by Aristotle using the scientific method, thus he gave the 'scientific' theory of state and is responsible for the word 'science' attached to political science.

Human Nature:
According to Aristotle, man is sational by nature and uses logic and reasoning tamoke chaices.
Secondly, he says that man is "social" in volure he connot live in isolation as he is rational and knows that becoming part of society is in his best interest. Also, among all the social institutions, the best community is state which is essential for the progress and growth of an individual.

Risk of undermining Separation of Powers: Excessive judicial intervention upsets the delicate balance of separation of powers leading to a situation where the judiciony dictates policy decisions, bluning the lines between the three bronches of the eig- the Panama Paper case involved allegations of financial impropriety against the then prime Minister Naway Short and his family. The case led to disqualification of Nawaz Sharif by the Supreme Court. While many celebrated the court's decision as a move against corruption, it can be arqued that the judiciory should not be involved in the determination of disqualification of a sitting Prime Minister. Delayed Justice: Judiciary when actively engaged in reviewing legislative actions diverts its allentian and resources from it's primary role of ensuring timely justice. For example, in the Noor Mukaddam case, there was an extreme delay in the resolution of case despite it being a popular case in the eyes of the civilsociety

and media which goes to show what

Day: MIWIFSS However all of this across of the expense of parliamentary supremory which leads lo distartion of balance of power because judiciary devictes from its domain of interpreting law and enters into the legislative's domain. This interference by judiciony in parliament however leads to interinstitutional conflicts as the parliament starts passing resolutions against the judiciary. Judicialization of politics by judges storting to settle political matters instead of parliaments or political parties is not a good omen as it is further proof of underming the parliament's soverighty. There is also no remedy against wrong decisions by judiciary not any accountability which is a drawback of judicial review. Conclusion: Thus, in conclusion, this is a complex and expline issue and striking the right balance between judiciony and parliament is very impulsant where both perform in their own domain and play their role effectively so that there is no reason to intrivene and undermine each other's outhority.

Impact of 18th amendment on federation in Pakistan:
The major feature of the 18th amendme
was devolution of power to the provinces Havever, it can be collisized to have braight about two major problems in the structure of existing federation in Patistan.
A detailed evaluation of these problems
will be provided below.

0.4
(1)	A loose federation:
	A loose federation implies that the hational integrity of Pokistan is halianal integrity of Pakislan is challenged and threatened. This is because the provinces received too much powers and they don't have the capacity to take up that responsibility.

	facism:
	The word Facism is derived from on
-	Halian word "Fascia" which literally
-	means band or group?
+	The fascist theory was promeeted by
+	Benito Mussalini who said that it
-	couldn't be defined, rather it was an
+	action.
+	facism is an ultra-nationalist ideology
+	through which the facist party governs
+-	the state using authoritarianism
-	(there is only one centralized authority)
	Bosically, fasicm can be called as an authoritarian nationalist idealogy.

-	Enabling conditions for facismin Past:
#
	There are a number of conditions which fuel facism in various regions ,
-	of Asia and Europe. Following are a few of them:
)	Nationalism:
	Notionalism was and still is the core principle of tocism. For foscists, state is the end and people are the means.

	People can only benefit if they are loyal to the state, and to show their loyally they must sacrifice their lives for the state. This spirit of nationalism is found in Asia and Europe which breeds Facism.
→	Authoritarianism:
	In authoritarianism, all authority is concentrated in one man or a body of persons of the top biass ise the ruling elite. There	111 is m concept of devolution of power. As can be seen in Germany and Italy examples.

7	Rise of Hindutva Ideology:
	Hindulva, associated with the broader Hindu nationalist movement emphasizes the cultural and religious identify of Hindus
	The elements of this ideology exhibit authoritarian tendencies, especially in leims of minority rights and dissent.
->	Concern of Authoritorianism:
	Certain political actions, restrictions on dissent and centralization at authority like the Modi Party becoming vigilance of India, is indicative of authoritariam lendencies
	in a weak democratic structure.
_	Notionalism and Populism:
	Nationalism has been a significant heme framing immigration as a threat to national security and identity.

	Conclusion:
	As apporant from the discussion above on facism in Asia and Furope, it is clear that facism also flourishes in countries with strong nationalism and democross.
