

1) A) Noise Pollution refers to any noise that interferes with human lives. If this pollution is left unchecked, it can have severe repercussions on the physical and mental wellbeing of humans and animals. In Pakistan, noise pollution is one of the major causes for stress and suffering. Noise pollution has reached to a dangerous point in urban areas and big cities. For instance, a survey conducted by Punjab environmental protection agency shows that noise in Lahore has reached upto 91 decibal, whereas as much as 75 decibal is tolerable. This means that the mental and physical wellbeing of many people is at stake.

B) Nature has instilled a strange, unwavering attachment to hope in human instinct. If he loses hope in one aspect, he finds it in another. If the second is also not fulfilled, he shifts it to the third, and this process continues till his last breath. Had the nature not designed such a ~~precise~~ relation between human and hope, he would have given up at the first sign of hopelessness. He would die from despair.
