

General Instructions

1. Give numbering to headings

2. Do not write lengthy paragraphs. Write medium sized paragraphs with headings.

3. There should be around 15 headings for 20 marks question.

4. Draw figures/diagram/flowchart where needed.

5. Start new question from fresh page.

6. Each answer should start with Introduction and end with Conclusion.

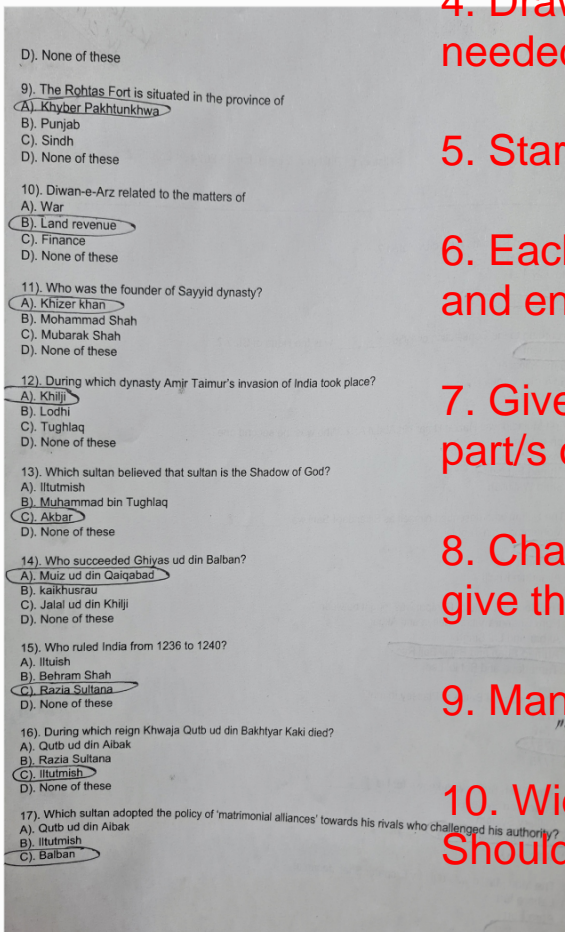

7. Give more weightage to expressedly asked part/s of the question.

8. Change colour scheme for references to give them more visibility.

9. Manage time well.

10. Wide page borders are discouraged. Should be reasonable.

11. Avoid writing wrong references.

D). None of these

18). To which Silsila Sheikh Bahauddin Zakriya Multani belongs?

- A). Chishtiya
- B). Suharwardia
- C). Qadriya
- D). None of these 19). Which city was named as the city of gold by Arabs during Bin Qasim's invasion of Sindh?

- A). Debul
- B). Multan
- C). Brahman abad
- D). None of these

20). Which was the capital of Ummayyads at the time of Muhammad bin Qasim's invasion?

- A). Baghdad
- B). Kufa
- C). Damascus
- D). None of these

Contact Us / Email: info@noacss.pk
UAN 051 111 662 277

Kaleem
Malik

SUBJECTIVE- PART-II

---

QUESTION NO# 2 Significance of M.Bin Qasim's Attack and Impacts

I. Introduction

The Klaidoscopic nature of India has attracted almost every nation. The fertile land, valleys and deserts, strong history and varied cultures and most importantly, the hospitable Indians have allured foreigners to come to the sub-continent. In this perspective, Muhammad-bin-Qasim also marched to India in 711.A.D. The significance of the attacks of Muhammad bin-Qasim and the impacts of these attacks are explained below.

II. The Alluring India: A Background and Invasion

India was a vast territory, exhibiting everything one wish to have. This attracted different nations to come and stay in the sub-continent. Tracing from Aryans who came in India in 5000 B.C., to the invasion of Muhammad bin Qasim, India has hosted these foreigners. Aryans, Alexander, the Great, Partians, Bakhhs, to count few, came to India to subdue it. It was a region that gave birth to Jainism and Buddhism. So much sophisticated in civility and education that many nations still have the indelible remarks, as mentioned by Wynn Brandt in his book, "A Brief History of Pakistan"

III. Significance of Expedition of Muhammad Bin Qasim

The significance of expedition of Muhammad Bin Qasim is illustrated below:

1) To subdue the Atrocities of Hindu Maharajas

At the time of invasion in 712 A.D. India was ruled by Raja Dahir. He was a fundamentalist Hindu, who was motivated by bigotry and caste system. The caste system was so strong that no one was even allowed to talk about

It, as was mentioned by Ibn-e-Batuta in his milestone composition in 1001. Muslims expedited all the from Baghdad in Iraq to Debul port in India, with a mission to quash inhuman treatment of people. Muhammad Bin Qasim Sa'id, as mentioned by Sheik Muhammad Ikram

"I am here to fight only with Kindless ruler." Muhammad Bin Qasim

Source: The History of Muslim Civilization in India by S.M. Ikram

2) Addressed the Aspirations of Muslims

India was well known to Arabs through the long history of caravans. The Muslims living in Ceylon, modern day Sri Lanka were hijacked and looted. This instigated the expedition of Umayyad general to address the culprits. By vanquishing pirates and the Rajas of India, Muslims addressed the aspirations of those detained.

3) The spread of Islam

The spread of Islam through the peaceful means was the policy of their Muslim rulers. However, in the case of III expedition, it was carried out by means of war. Otherwise, Arab traders were also carrying out the spreading of Islam by peaceful and consent

basal manner, Sohail-Ibn Aul was already ruled Makran and Kerman in 642s, in peaceful manner.

III. The Impacts of Expedition on India

The long-lasting and constantly echoing impacts are explained below.

1) The Ready Infusion of Islam in India, particularly Sindh.

The first and foremost impact of the expedition of Umayyad
general of 17 years age was the infusion of Islamic principles in India, especially in the Sindh. They were exploited by racist trends in other religions. Therefore, historical accounts say that the Indian wholeheartedly accepted Islam, which is also mentioned by Ibn-e-Batuta.

2) Impetus to Education In India

A faction of people were allowed to get education and excel in it.
These included the upper class Indians. The rule of Muslims in the sub-continent led to formation of Khangah - places where moral and religious education was given to all the people equally. These seminaries paved the way for educational uplift in early Islam period.

3) Cultural Mixup and Exchange

In India,
people were into classes.
These classes restricted people to their customs. They were even not allowed to marry beyond their class. Islamic rule allowed intermarriages. The Arabs themselves married Indians. Sheikh Ikram writes that the people of India wept for Muhammad Bin Qasim's departure.

4) Lingual Impacts. The birth of New Languages

India was already diverse in languages. It inhibited people from different territories and subcontinents. The arrival of Arabs led to the exchange of languages and words. The historians says that Sindhi language emerged from Arab and the local languages of India. It has many words of Arabic to this day.

IV. Critical Evaluation

The analyses of the expedition of young Arab leader of 17 years of age manifest that Arabs left multitude of indelible remarks. To this day, the people of the subcontinent are attached to Arabs. They have many similarities due to the amalgamation of cultures. The expedition might be considered as invasion by Hindus, yet it is manifested that India's influence in the world and its importance was expedited by Muslim rule.

V. Conclusion

All in all, the expedition of Muhammad Bin Qasim in 711 A.D has great significance for the Muslim rule in the subcontinent. It was due to the expedition that Muslims ruled for 1000 years.

in India, Arabs brought the traditions and imparted them in the Indian culture. They also learned new techniques in the field of Mathematics, philosophy and other parts of the

QUESTION NO# 6

IMPACT of British Colonial Rule in India

I. Introduction

The colonial rule always left behind indelible marks. The two and a half century rule of British on India left varied socio-economic and political impacts that are still present and very relevant. In some areas the British rule brought positive changes, while in some the colonial rule brought negative impacts. A holistic exposition on the impacts of British rule is hereby elaborated.

II. The Coming of East-India Company and Consolidation of Rule

Before going to explore the impacts, it is necessary to dig out the coming of East India Company (EIC) and consolidation of British rule in the sub-continent.

1) The coming of Dutch and French

In the mid of 16th century, the Dutch and French landed on the shores of India around the Bay of Bengal. They landed on Calcutta ports and were encountered by the Mughals and the local empires.

2) The Coming of EIC in 1600 and Jehangir

The East India Company sought legal place to carry out trade, which was at first rejected by Mughal Emperor Jehangir, but later on, he gave the permit under some conditions.

3) The War of Independence or Indian Mutiny 1857

The War of Independence 1857 led the British Crown to take the direct control of India, and the Crown ruled till 1947, the Partition of India.

III. The Impacts of British Rule

The impact of British rule is positive in only few ways, and negative in many ways. They are explored below.

1) Economic Impacts

The positive and negative economic impacts are:

① Extraction of Raw Material and India's Economic Loss: A Negative Impact

It was the time period of Enlightenment and Industrialization in Europe. They were looking for territories to extract raw materials and run their industries. Shashi Tharoor has mentioned in his book 'The Dark Era of Colonization' that in early 1600s, the global share of England in economy was around 1% and that of India was 20%. By the time British left in 1947, British had global share around 10% and India was crippled with malnutrition, drought and was food mongering Sub-continent.

2) Construction of Railways (1884) and boost in Economy To this Day

Analysts and historians agree that the construction of railway tracks was a milestone achievement in India. India was a vast land, distances were too much. No roads and postage ways. The building of railways in the barren lands, mountains, and bridge construction, all these contributed to the economic journey of India.

2) Social Impact

The positive and negative social impacts are:

① Expedition of Educational Activities

The harsh conditions of the subcontinent and the long distance and unawareness to shift in the educational field was leading India into retrogression. They brought educational policies, built many schools and introduced teachers, scholars and mentors from England.

② Introduction of Legal and Constitutional Rights: Positive

Whether, it was Mughal rule or Hindu one, the public had no legal and constitutional rights. They introduced the concept of legal rights and constitutional rights. The series of Legislative Acts 1861, 1892, 1909, 1919 and the last one The Government of India Act, 1935. These acts assured human rights and political rights as well.

③ Abolishment of Superstitions, such as Sati: Positive

India was spoiled by prejudices and superstitions. Particularly Hindu culture is fraught with these beliefs. In early 1830s, British government banned Sati and other superstitions.

④ Imposition of English Language: Threat To culture: Negative

In 1835, Lord Macaulay wrote A Minute on Education. He mentioned that by imposing English language, he would produce Indian in blood, but British in Taste. The imposition of English led Indians particularly Muslims to go into the retrogression.

3) Political Impacts

Positive and Negative political impacts are:

① Introduction of Constitutional Way of Running States

Before British landed India, no empire at all thought of constitution. There were no written and accepted rights. All rights were subjected to the authority of the ruler who could take any time. British introduced political systems. Slowly and gradually, Indians became aware of political systems and adopted constitutions. The

Government of India Act 1935

is one such document that both India and Pakistan adopted as interim constitutions. Both countries have many policies that were provided in the Act 1935.

3 Political and Independence Awareness

Before British rule, Indians did not know the political word of administration. They only knew the pathway of wars and battles which led to the millions of deaths of innocent Indians. It was the political consciousness that Pakistanis got independence through legal way.

IV. Conclusion

The colonial rule of British had long lasting impact on the people of India and Pakistan. In the economic field, British did more harm by extracting raw material of trillions of rupees. In the social sector, they removed some superstitions but they also imparted their ideology through language. All in all the socio-political and economic impacts are still echoed in the corridors of time.

QUESTION NO# 8

I. Introduction

The constitution making journey of Pakistan remained turbulent. Since inception, in 1947, Pakistan moved its ambition of making a all-comprehensive constitution to address the aspirations of all the ethnicities and culturally diverse groups. However, Pakistan made in all 3 constitutions. A historical development and amendments are described below.

II. Adoption of ~~Interim~~ Constitution

Soon after the independence in 1947 the newly born country adopted the Government of India Act, 1935 and the Independence Act, 1947 as the interim constitution. For 9 years till March 23, 1956 the economic, social, legal, political and administrative affairs of the country were run by these two constitutions which were framed by British Parliament.

Objectives Resolution?

III. Formation of Basic Principles Committee and passing of Objective Resolution in 1949

The forefathers and the founders of the country set the stage of constitution making on ~~March~~ <sup>August</sup> 12, 1947 by forming Basic Principles Committee (BPC). The purpose of BPC was:

- 1) To draft future constitution
- 2) To act as a legislative assembly.

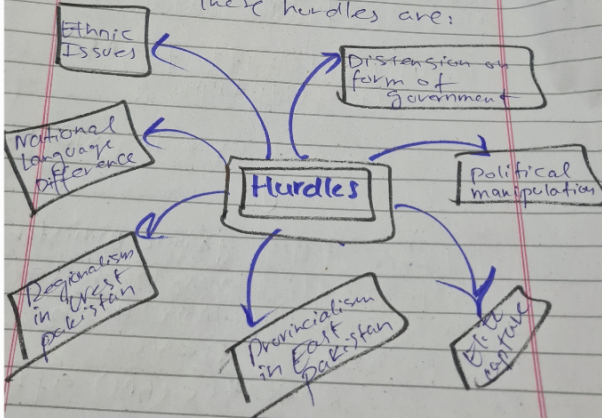

In 1949, Prime minister Liaqat Ali Khan presented objective Resolution which was passed by Basic principles committee (BPC) after much debate. The Objective Resolution was the first step towards the formation of constitution.

In 1952 and 1954, the reports of BPC were presented for future constitution, but Governor General Ghulam Muhammad dismissed BPC.

III. The Constitution Making Hurdles

These hurdles are:

IV. The Constitution 1956, 1952, 1973

After the removal of constitution making hurdles to some extent, the Constitution 1956 was adopted on March 23 1956. The martial law and abrogation of constitution by Sikander Mirza left the country with constitution.

1962 Constitution was the one person constitution formed by General Ayub Khan which abolished by General Yahya Khan.

1973 Constitution was the milestone achievement that was adopted on August 14, 1973. Till this day constitution is operational.

V. Major Amendments

→ 1st Amendment: The acceptance of Bangladesh as an independent country.

→ 2nd: Ahmadis declared non-muslims.

Indo pak history paper