

From HomeFront to Frontlines: Women's Impact on National security and stability

Outline :

Introduction : A country cannot enjoy socio-economic development without national security and stability. No development is possible without inclusion of women.

(A) How women impact the national security and stability

- a) Women have the power to develop a peaceful family structure
- b) An empowered women strengthens family bond to promote stability
- c) Mother is the very first person to build ideology of their children
- d) Independent women boosts national security of the country

Date: _____

- e) Literate women dismantle terrorism to instill peaceful values
- f) Civilized women play a leading role in environmental sustainability.
- g) Educated women maintain the integrity of the country
- h) Healthy women promote prosperous society
- i) Gender equality boost economy of the country.
- j) Climate change impacts reduced by empowering women
- k) Women participation in peace talks empower marginalized group.

Conclusion:

Date: _____

M T W T F S

women are the builders of future. No development is possible without equal participation of women. Women is the key player to promote unity among people. A strong family structure contributes to the stability and prosperity of the society. Women play a pivotal role to eradicate conflicts among members of the family. She has the power to strengthen family bond. It assists in reducing terrorism and extremism in the society. Educated women contribute to the society economy of the country and boost its national security. Civilized women take care of the nature to promote environmental sustainability. They bravely challenge ^{the} natural disasters to ensure minimum loss.

Date: _____

They maintain the integrity of the nation/country by educating their children. Healthy women promote peace and prosperity in the society. They pay strict vigilance on their children to eradicate evil acts. Educated and strong children become precious assets of the country. Educated women contribute socio-economic development of the country to eradicate poverty. They boost human capital of the country. A country cannot be stabilized without gender equality. All in all, empowered women are the bedrock of a civilized nation.

A stabilized family structure gives wings to the every member of the family. It boosts unity among them. It strengthens mental health of the members of the family. A person with strong mental health do not involve in any conflict. It is only possible, when the women of the family are educated. Otherwise, the dream of stable family structure will be incomplete. It the women, who leads a family in an house. The leader should be educated, if the members of the family wants to enjoy happiness in their life. A happy ultimately contribute to the peace and prosperity of society.

(14) (1) (1)

Date _____

Similarly, strong family bond has significant impact in the national security of the country. It was studied in Finland that strong family bond reduces terrorism in the country, because the children

ite: _____

with strong family bonds do not join terrorist organization.

However, strengthening family bond is only possible when women of the family are educated.

An educated mother cannot leave her children to damage the society and the country.

As a whole, educated women play a significant role to counter terrorism in the country and promote to increase national security of the country.

Development of a country is possible with sustainable change in the society. Initially, change starts within yourself and at your home. Socio-economic problems cannot be resolved in isolation with ideological change and cultural shift. From birth till to the puberty children's mindset and ideas are shaped by their mother. If the country wants to bring a paradigm shift in the country. It is necessary to include women in the technological sector. Inclusion of women in the modern technological sector revolutionized the country.

Date _____

High skilled and capable women nourishes strong minds. As a result, it change the ^{overall} society.

Moreover, women's contribution in climate change is very impactful. Currently, every country is facing severe issues due to bad climate. A country can minimize losses of the climate change by spreading awareness among women. The country needs to make them capable enough to take necessary steps before the natural disaster. Most of the men are out of home in village areas. Climate change badly impact the village areas due to lack of facilities. In such cases, women play the leading role in underdeveloped countries. They need to be equipped with advance technologies to reduce climate ^{change} impact and boost national security of the country.

In addition to this, civilized women take special care of the nature to make environment liveable. In European countries women have separate recreational gardens and parks. It helps to create a clean environment. The families come together to enjoy the beauty of nature in their leisure time. It strengthens their mental health and promote unity among them. Strong united nations do not involve in any conflict. It reduces crime rate in the country. It provides a healthy environment to the citizens of the country.

Date: _____

In the same manner, national security of the country cannot be boosted without gender equality. Empowered women represent themselves in every platform of the country. They can raise voice for themselves. Women need to be given equal participation in every sector of the country.

Like women in politics can fairly represent women. They become able to formulate policies and laws to eradicate societal evils in the country. It helps them to reduce domestic violence, marital rape and other other mental and physical issues of women. Countering such crimes promotes a prosperous society.

Date: _____

Women participation in peace talks at the national and international level can resolve the issues of racial, gender and ethnicity. Currently, the world is destabilized due to ethnic and racial differences. Most of women are killed because of their race and ethnicity.

It is the dire need of the state to empower their women.

Empowered women raise awareness among them. It reduces conflict violence and ensure human fundamental rights. It boosts integrity of the country, and promotes a peaceful society.

Date: _____

Additionally, healthy women contribute to the national security of the country. They are capable and skilled. It adds value to the human capital of the country. As a result, it boosts the economy of the country. Empowered women contribute in decision making as they are healthy and have strong mental health. They are capable enough to take decision at the executive level. It eradicates gender discrimination. As a whole, the country's integrity will be boosted. It increases its national security.

In conclusion, women play a crucial role in promoting peace in the society. In the family setup, she is the wheel of the overall family. It is up to women, either to strengthen unity among the members of the family or divide them into pieces. The country needs to educate women to boost its national security. Educated women raise effective leaders with advanced mindsets. It helps the country to eradicate conflicts and violent crimes in the country, because educated ~~women~~ children do not dare to leave their members of the family and join any extremist party. Empowered women resolve the issues of marginalized groups to promote harmony in the society. They challenge every act of violence that hurts the stability of the society. In nutshell, women is the glue that keeps societies close and promote unity among them.

Date: _____

M T W T F S

Date _____

M T W T F S S