Q.2 "Resilience Over Comfort: Dubai's Future"

07/20

The Historical Cycle of Adversity and Prosperity

The historical pattern of the fall and rise of a civilization is highlighted by Sheikh Rashid through his interview. According to him, the cyclic pattern of civilization spares no one as he predicted the decline of his own generation. He narrated the shift of civilization of Dubai from camels to modern vehicles which depicts the dynamic cycle of ease and difficulty. In adversity, man fights hard which results in the prosperity. The increasing prosperity numbs civilization and long term ease causes prosperity to end. Sheikh Rashid is of the view that future generations should be self-resilient instead of enjoying the legacy of their forefathers. The unchecked ease and access to all kinds of facilities without any considerable efforts bring the decline of the society. The only guarantee of prosperity is the balance of resilience and luxury and only the youth having sense of responsibility will be able

He advocates for raising "warriors"—resilient, resourceful, and responsible individuals—rather than "parasites" who depend on others.
