Q-7

Translation

IF you would have travelled by plane internationally or taken any transit flight from Dubai, Qatar or Kuwait, you would have observed the peaceful surrounding in Japanese passengers portia. They all are disciplined and uniform in their appearance. Similarly when you visit German, Chinese, Malaysian, Australian, or Spanish gates, situation will be same. You will find national uniformity. But when you reach at the gate of Pakistani passengers, great diversity is prominent over uniformity. Majority of gloomy faces, weeping of children, and variety of dresses will welcome you. You will find every kind of person like newlywed brides with henna-decorated hands eagerly waiting to reunite with their husbands. There are also elderly mothers-in-law suffering from joint pain walking slowly with bunches of their kids demands. While in business class, you see business-class passengers dressed in safari suits, who are bureaucrats. Bureaucrats can also not be escaped from the eye.
