"Resilience Over Comfort: Dubai's Future"

07/20

Importance of Investing in human capital

In an interview, the visionary founder of modern Dubai signified the importance of investing in human capital. He said that his forefathers lived a life devoid of luxury. However, he himself and his immediate descendents live a life full of luxury. He further warned that his great-grandson will have to live a life akin to his forefathers because ease creates weak men. He went on to say that hard times make people resilient to cope with hardships. On the other hand, affluence and comfort give rise to idle people who find complacency in their idleness. Consequently, a ripe ground is created by them for hard times again. Further, he called upon his people to become warriors who possess skills to overcome challenging times and ^{warned} beware them of becoming parasites who take pride of the achievements of their ancestors and do nothing for themselves. While highlighting the significance of investing

Some kind of unanimity is observed. However, when you reach the Pakistani gale, you would observe a great diversity. On one side, they would be people pulling long faces, but you can hear children crying. People wearing nickers and jeans and few in Shalwar kameez. On the other hand, there would be newly married bride with her hand filled with all colours of kermas impatient to see her husband and on other side elderly mothers-in-law suffering from joint pain walking slowly about joint pain arthritis. On one corner you would find alien labours having safes and toffees in hands for the kids and on other corner a business class passenger.

Elsewhere, you see business-class passengers dressed in safari suits, who are bureaucrats.
