

-2 MOCK - 2-

-2 ENGLISH PRECIS and COMPOSITION:-

Q: 2

Title:-

Importance of Teaching of Human Values

Chinese built the Great Wall of China to protect themselves from invaders. Despite this, they were invaded for three more times. These long walls had not protected them because of lack of character of wall guards. So, making of human character is of utmost importance than construction. As said by an orientalist, destroy three things to destroy civilization of a nation: Family structure, education system and reputation of their role models. If these three important pillars will be discredited, who will teach human values to younger generation? Indeed, this is an important concern for a nation.

Q = 5 (B)

- iii. in
- i. for
- iv. from
- vii. over
- viii. for

Q = 5 (A)

A fast train raced along the border of the biggest cattle ranch in Montana. A passenger gazed at the huge herds and when the train finally passed the other boundary of the ranch, he turned to the man who was sitting beside him and said, "What a huge herd of cattle! I counted 13,750 head". The man was surprised. "That's amazing," he answered. "I own that ranch and you are exactly right - I have exactly 13,750 head of cattle. How were you able to count them so fast?" It was easy; I just counted their legs and divided by four.

Q = 6 (A)

(viii) Elephant in the room:

Allocation of less resources for education

in the budget is an elephant in the room.

To bring to book

All corrupt politicians should be brought to book for their illicit activities.

To rest on one's laurels

A person should not rest on one's laurels and should strive for further progress in life.

A passing fancy:

His desire to run for president was no passing fancy.

On the anvil

The new policy is still on the anvil and yet to be finalized.

Q: 7

A violinist, in the New York's subway, played a tune for forty five minutes. A handful of people stopped, a couple clapped / applauded, and violinist collected almost thirty dollars ($30). Nobody knew that violinist was Joshua Bell, one of the best musician in the world. On this subway, Joshua played most the difficult tune written by $ 3.5 million violin. Two days before subway incident, Joshua Bell performed in Boston and he made million of dollars. Thereby proved by experiment that extraordinary things does not shine in ordinary circumstances, and is often ignored and gets less attention. Outstanding qualified people are present everywhere, to whom that recognition and reward is not being given that they deserve. Therefore, go where you are praised and appreciated.

Q: 6(B)

Sarah greeted Mark and asked whether he had heard about the upcoming competitive exams. Mark replied in positive, and said that he had been thinking about whether he should take them or not and asked whether ~~we~~ they were really that important. Sarah exclaimed in positive and said competitive exams played a crucial role in shaping their future and that they not only test their knowledge but also their problem-solving skills, time management, and ability to handle pressure. Mark exclaimed and said he never thought about it that way, ^x and ^x questioned whether they were not too stressful, and said that he was worried about how he would perform under such pressure. Sarah replied it was natural to feel stressed, but think of it as a challenge to overcome. She said that competitive exams pushed them to strive for excellence and brought out the best in them. She added that the sense of achievement he would feel after pleasing them was unmatched. Mark agreed and guessed that they did offer a great opportunity to showcase their abilities and stand out among their peers. He thanked ^{Sara} her for helping him understand the importance of competing exams and ~~said~~ exclaimed with motivation that he would give it his best shot.

Q: 42-

- (i) There are few apples in the basket.
- (v) She was cooking dinner while he was watching TV.
- (v) I had better called my parents to let them know I was running late.
- (ii) Many travellers have gotten lost in this maze-like city.

(vi) She speaks as though she is an expert on the subject.

(1)

Factors which determine the role of the courts in society are: Judges' conception of their function, expectations of the public, the executive and the legislature of the courts. Mostly, there is a gap between the judges' perception and others' expectations. Different judges hold different opinions on judicial function concept which change by changing dynamics.

(2)

Role of courts is dynamic and is changed by changing conditions and conceptions. ^xjudiciary^x it is influenced by political and social institutions in addition to judiciary which are in a continuous process.

CE(3)B

The public might criticize the judiciary in judgment of the cases charged with emotional, ideological, social or political elements and on insensitive comments made by judges.

CE(4)B

Academic and professional critics describe the judiciary as unimaginative, timid, not active, not creative, orthodox, conventional, or conservative in its law-making functions and that it has over-priced practiced judicial self-restraint. They sometimes bestow titles "socially reactionary" or "the high priest of rigid stare decisis" and "the limited role for the judiciary" upon judges.

(85) B

In my opinion, certain judicial rulings become controversial because public's sentiments are more attached with some cases and they want a particular verdict in that case which if does not resonate with public, leads to public storm.
