

Q. NO. 02

Nations survive on moral values

The Chinese decided to build the Great Wall of China to live in peace by protecting themselves from external invaders. They failed to do so because the external invaders used to give bribe to guards to enter into China. Therefore it is the lack of character of guards. By keeping in view the above historical fact there is dire need to build the character of youth. According to orientalist, civilization of a nation is destroyed by destroying their family structure, education system and embracing their role models. <sup>After</sup> By destroying these pillars of civilization then the civilization is shaped by singers and dancers rather than scientists and teachers.

Q. NO. 03

Ans (1)

Different factors prevailing in society determine the role of the courts. These factors includes the judges' school of thoughts, for their functions, public expectations from the courts and the ~~three~~ remaining two pillars of democracy i.e. executive and legislature.

Ans (2)

Changing perception of judges, executive and legislature have influenced the role of the courts. Because of presence of wide gap among the thoughts and opinions of above institutions therefore they influence the role of the courts. So the role of the courts is not static but dynamic.

Ans (3)

In some controversial cases the public might criticize the judiciary because the judgements are not according to public's expectations. These judgements harm the ideological, emotional and social elements present in the society. Therefore a legal matter might transform into a controversial case.

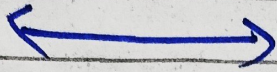

Ans (4)

The academic and professional critics criticize the judiciary in a limited manner. They term the judiciary as static, not having any creativity, conventional and unimaginative in law-making functions. Some times they bestow upon some titles like the title of "socially reactionary" or "the high priest of rigid state decisions" and the limited role for judiciary.

Ans (5)

Our society is divided <sup>among</sup> between different schools of thoughts based on religion, ethnicity and ~~that~~ affiliation with certain political parties. People are emotionally linked to these schools of thoughts. When judgments came against their schools of thoughts then people react against these judgments. So a legal matter might turn into a commercial case.

A fast train raced along the border of the biggest cattle ranch in Montana. A passenger gazed at the huge herds. And when the train finally passed the other boundary of the ranch, he turned to the man, who was sitting beside him and said, "What a huge herd of cattle! I counted 13,750 heads." The man was surprised. "That's amazing" he answered, "I own that ranch and you are exactly right. I have exactly 13,750 heads of cattle. How were you able to count them so fast? It was easy; I just counted their legs and divided by four".

Sarah asked Mark whether he had heard about the upcoming competitive exam. Mark replied that yes he had. He had been thinking about whether she should take them or not.

Sarah again asked Mark if they were really important. Sarah replied affirmatively and said that competitive exam played a crucial role in shaping their future. They not only tested out knowledge but also their problem solving skills, time management and ability to handle pressure. Mark replied affirmatively that he had never thought about it in those ways. Mark asked whether they were too stressful. He was worried about how he would perform under such pressure. Sarah said that it was natural to feel stressed but thought of it as a challenge to overcome. Competitive exams pushed them to strive for excellence and brought out the best in them. Moreover the sense of achievement he would feel after clearing them was unmatched. Mark said that it was true. He guessed they did offer a great opportunity to showcase their abilities and stood out among their peers. Sarah thanked Mark for helping her in understanding the importance of competitive exams. She <sup>claimed that</sup> would give it her best shot.

Q. NO. 07

A violinator played a violin for forty five minutes in the sub-way of New York. Some people stopped even a couple clapped and the violinator collected thirty dollars. No one known that the violinator was Joshua Bell, who was the best singer in the world. Joshua played a most tricky violin worth of 3.5 million in the subway. Before playing in sub-way, he played violin in Houston and earned millions of dollars. This proved that unusual thing does not shine in the usual environment and it is often neglected. Great people are present everywhere these people are not receiving such reward which they deserved. That's why join those gatherings where you will be praised.
