There is an old myth about the boiling frog. It states that, when someone puts a frog in the hot water, the frog will immediately jump back and save his life. However, if someone puts a frog in the water at normal temperature, and gradually increases the heat, the frog will stay there until its death. This old myth demonstrates the problems of today's world. The boiling water represents the problems which are identified quickly and addressed, such as terrorism, poverty, and climate change. However, the ^{gradually} boiling water represents the problems which are causing profound impacts but not identified and the world did not give them attention such as disintegration of morality and values. The decline of values in the modern world has triggered a significant shift and caused potential negative impacts around the world. To begin with, the emergence of artificial intelligence (AI) has created privacy problems. Similarly, hate speech on social media, political polarization, and rise of extremism are showing the decline of values in contemporary society. Moreover, in today's world, people only respect wealthy persons. Similarly, poor working conditions for workers showing the loss of values. Likewise, mob justice, racism, and food wastage are the challenges for values in today's world. Furthermore, the role of women is still in dampen condition because of old cultural norms. In last, cybercrime scams are the indication of disintegration of values in today's world. However, with some improvement in society, it can be improved, such as ^{implementing} social media rules at global scale. In today's world, the disintegration of values are driven by technological advancements, hate between peoples, and some old cultural norms. However, with some mitigation approaches it can be improved.

To begin with, the emergence of Artificial intelligence (AI) has been creating privacy concerns. Identity theft, data leaks, and tracking and monitoring are the some of privacy concerns created by AI. Moreover, the society has lose its value by ~~m~~ blackmailing, using pictures without permission and using other person data. likewise, fakedeeps by the (AI) gives access to use any person picture on any other pictures, and it is hard to recognize. However, despite many cases it is legal to use. Similarly, these types of software by AI has caused disintegration in the society by undermining trust, misinformation profferated, and increase divide in society. To conclude, it can be stated that artificial intelligence is causing decline in values of today's world. Similarly, hate speech against each other and political leaders has weakened the shared values, increase anger, and creates division in the modern world. These harmful talks destroy the peace in the society and make a wave of heat hate. Moreover, when hate speech in social media and in general public become common it hurts civil engagement. Furthermore, targeting public figures on social media also impact national integrity. It can be concluded as hate speech towards politicians and public figures is causing disintegration in society.

likewise, political polarization splits society and weakens shared values. Instead of listening each other problems the politicians stick with their own ideology. Moreover, the polarization in politics also causes leaders to use bad language about each other. Furthermore, the polarization effects the unity in a country and affects relationships with other countries. Similarly, polarization impacts the challenges which are needs global support, such as climate change. It can be stated that, political polarization is causing disintegration of values in the society.

In same manner, the disintegration of values in the modern world is because people only respects wealthy persons. Respect solely for the wealthy persons undermines the value of hardwork, foster inequality, and damage ethics of the community. Moreover, it cause a system in which people prioritise wealth over wealth over character. Similarly, this problem and mindset ignores the importance of fairness in the society. Likewise, it foster selfishness within the community. Moreover, encouraging respect based on wealth propose a culture of elitism. It can be suggested that only respecting people on the basis of wealth is causing decline in values of in modern world.

In similar fashion, the poor working conditions of workers is the erosion of values in contemporary world. Poor conditions generally refers with the conditions where there is no safety, no job security, and no life insurance. Moreover, the worst condition of workers can be seen in South Asia, where ethical values are at decline and inequality is on top. For instance, the condition of workers, working on bricks kilns in Pakistan. Moreover, it is also be called as the modernday slavery because they got very low income and have to work in the worst condition. Likewise, the poor conditions also undermines the dignity of a worker. Furthermore, it traps poor in the cycle of inequality and poverty. Additionally, it impacts the progress of the organization. In short, it can be stated that poor working conditions in South Asian countries are making negative impacts on the population.

In the same way, mob justice is

become a new social issue that is making decline in values in the modern world. Mob justice generally refers to extra judicial punishment in which a person who is the suspect of the crime faces physical punishment by the crowd. These types of activities in the community is generally because of uneducated person; however, it cause undermine the values in public. Moreover, mob justice also increase the angry, injustice, and extremism in the people. Additionally, younger generation learn the same thing and this social problem continues. However, mob justice also damages the values by encouraging culture of violence in the society. For instance, in Pakistan mob killed a woman over a false charges of blasphemy. It can be concluded as, mob justice is causing impacts on values.

Similarly, the rise of extremism in politics and religion impacts the values within the communities. Rise of extremism can be defined as to become an extremist on an ideology and not tolerate other's ideology. Moreover, it cause damage security, undermining peace and cause problems in sustainable development. Similarly, it spreads hate in politics and between the religions. Additionally, the extremist organizations like BLA or TLP in Pakistan impacts the occupation of people, undermines role of women and creates hate in the community. In short, it can be stated that, rise in extremism in politics and in religion causing values in the modern world.

In addition, racism in the western countries threatens the values. Racism can be defined as discrimination of people on the basis of gender, colour, cast or religion. Racism creates inequality, injustice and social conflict. Moreover, loss of values because of racism also affects political decisions. Similarly, racism in western countries is based on colour as white people are superior and also based on religion. These discriminations also cause hatred towards government and legal system. To conclude, it can be stated that racism in western countries affects the values of the world.

In the same way, wastage of food is a global issue that increases inequality, poverty, and increases waste in a country. Wastage of food is a serious problem for human health also; it creates a breeding ground for viruses which can be spread. However, according to the World Health Organization there is a loss of 1.3 billion tons of food per year and there are many countries which are fighting against food insecurity like Pakistan. In Pakistan, 42.3% of people sleep without having dinner. This statistic shows that how much inequality is created by wastage of food. In short, it can be stated that wastage of food is causing loss in values.

In the same manner, women role is undermined by the old cultural norms that is becoming a big cause of disintegration of values in the modern world. The old cultural norms such as women should do only household works is causing damage gender equality and limits opportunities. Moreover, it these norms are proven as biggest barrier in the women education. According to the United Nations, 129 millions girls are out of schools due to cultural norms majority. To conclude, the cultural norms and old thinking are causes damaging the values of society.

likewise, the cybercrimes scams are also a biggest cause of loss of values. Cybercrime scams such as scam of money, bullying, stalking, and fraud calling. These crimes results in loss of money and many times life. However, it cost digital value by data thief of costumers, loss of funds and intellectual property which are hard to recover. It can be argued that cybercrimes are the cause of disintegration of values in the modern world.

In the upper paragraphs, the decline in the values of modern world was discussed. Now, here are some recommendations for make improvement and compact challenges of undermining values.

Firstly, there should be more focus on morality and ethics courses in the education.

It will create importance of values in the children.

Secondly, there should be a governing body and rules for social media. The social media is the reason of hate speech, cyber bullying, and identity theft. By controlling these, there will be increase in values.

In Last, there should be awareness programs and online sessions to promote morality and ethics in general public.

In a nutshell, the disintegration of values in the modern world is because of emergence of technology, political polarization, and rise of extremism. Moreover, old cultural norms, food wastage and mob justice has increased the problems. However, to address these problems there should be more focus on education of ethics and morality. Additionally, there should be governing body and rules for social media, and awareness sessions can also play a part in raising awareness in the modern world.
