by greed or evil, but by a desire for acceptance and a noble death. Born with a physical defect, Epiptes was rejected by Sparta and spent his life training to prove himself. When he is rejected again by Leonidas, he's left broken and joins the Persian army, not out of betrayal, but because he was never accepted by Sparta in the first place. His actions are understandable, and he's not evil, just a complex character seeking acceptance and belonging.

Punctuate.

"Bob excitedly burst into the living room, holding a peculiar gadget. 'Honey, look what I bought!' he exclaimed. 'A robot vacuum cleaner!' His wife, Lisa, eyed it skeptically. 'You spent our savings on that?' She asked. 'But it'll save us time,' Bob argued. As the robot whirred to life, chaos ensued. It zoomed around, bumping into walls and furniture, sending objects flying. Lisa sighed. 'This isn't helping,' she said. Bob sheepishly admitted, 'maybe I got carried away.' They erupted into laughter, realizing some messes are best cleaned up the old-fashioned way—with teamwork and a trusty dustpan".
