

Name: Sana
Batch: 54.

ENGLISH ESSAY QUIZ .

TOPIC :

(F) Media as a political instrument .

Outline :

(1) Introduction

Thesis Statement: Media plays crucial role in today's world and helps in communicating. However, it is being used as a political instrument as well due to political tensions.

(2) Role of media in today's world .

(3) Media is being used as a political instrument .

(4) Pros and cons of Media used as a political instrument .

(5) Conclusion .

What is this

Media plays crucial role in today's world and helps in communicating, developing ideas and broadens one's perspective. As the tensions occur within the state, use of media and other platforms can be used for that specific purpose. The use of media as a political instrument can have pros as well as cons. Enhanced media platforms exist in today's society, using those platforms carefully should be priority of every political personality.

In today's world, with such a advancement, role of media has increased. People have access to all source of media whether it is television, news, social media etc. Everyone carries media in their hands just to remain updated. All the breaking news are just one touch away from every person.

With the advancement of media, it is being used as a political instrument. Whatever political leaders are trying to portray, it is just shown in that way. Use of media has impact on every individual, media shapes one's thinking and perspective. Media can be bias and non-bias. Using it as a political instrument but in a right way is crucial. Advanced form of media which can be considered as "Artificial Intelligence" is being used for multiple political reasons. According to Al-Jazeera News, in India during elections, it was shown that political parties are promoting AI videos to misguide people.

When there are pros, there are cons as well. Pros of using media as a political instrument is that it will be helpful for the political leaders or members to promote those things which will be helpful for the citizens because media has huge impact on shaping one's perspective. Using media as a political instrument can bring new changes in society. On the other hand, it can be misused as well, to divert people's attention. It can be misused to circulate false information. ~~It is~~ If it is used for right purpose then it will be beneficial for the society.

Structure?