Essay Introduction Paragraph:

Brain drain the process of talented individuals migrated from one country to another. The loss of these individuals can have negative effect on native country. including a shortage of qualified workers and deterioration of the education and research. Workers or students may leave their home country in search of higher wages better working conditions or more prestigious positions. There are number of ways to solve brain drain. One way is to provide better opportunities and job for skilled and educated people or workers in Pakistan. Another way is to encourage the Pakistanis to return home and share their skills and expertise with the people of their home countries and take part in the country's holistic development. By retaining its best and brightest citizen a country can ensure that its workforce is qualified and able to meet the demands or needs of the ever changing global country.
